TWO CENTS

REA'S STRONG CLAIM.

Says He Has Surprise For Fairmont Operators.

MORE MEN SOON WILL STRIKE.

Injunction Has Helped the Miners' Cause—Less Coal Being Shipped—Miners' Day to Be a Big Event, Especially in West Virginia.

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Aug. 2.—"There is a surprise in store for the operators of this region," said Joseph W. Rea. "Inside of 48 hours there will be several additions to the men already out."

There is more in Rea's words than many people think. He has been here since last Wednesday and has had two or three meetings each day. Not in the usual way, but has quietly gone to some schoolhouse or public hall, and the miners have gathered there as if by magic. Sunday afternoon at Monongah the meeting was a repetition of the success at Palatine Saturday night and Catawba Saturday afternoon.

Today at Worthington he made a speech to the men. Four more organizers joined Mr. Rea and Ed. Davis, his aid, today. Davis went to Clarksburg to organize the Pinnickinnick, Glenwood and Despar men, who are all out. Rea says he is highly elated over the prospects, and thinks West Virginia will yet come out. Mahon telegraphed from Charleston that the Kanawha and New River men had struck for 50 cents a ton and a checkweighman. Rea says he intends to call on Special Judge John W. Mason, who granted the injunction, today, and that he wants to know what the judge means. He does not know whether the injunction attempts to keep him from holding meetings in the public roads or not.

Mason's action may have proven a deathblow to the operators here. There are more signs of a general laying down of picks than there has been since the strike began. None of the operators have contracts of more than ten days in length, and the men say if they do not come out the other miners will go back and they will return to the 25-cent rates.

WHEELING, Aug. 2.—There has been a decrease in the amount of coal coming out of the Fairmont region on the Baltimore and Ohio road compared with the same period last week. Last week the average number of cars received at Bellaire was 200; now the average is probably not over 100. Last week the Wheeling and Lake Erie was handling 75 to 100 cars daily; now not more than 50 cars are handled. The Cleveland, Lorain and Wheeling comparison is the same as the Wheeling and Lake Erie's. In the Wheeling district the condition is full of uncertainty. The break at Boggs Run has made it very difficult to keep the men at Glendale, Moundsville and Elm Grove out. Some are working now, but this week will witness a desperate effort to make the suspension general throughout the district. The operators claim to be sure of their ability to keep at least half of their usual number at work.

Interest in West Virginia is centering on the "miners' day" demonstration recommended at the late Wheeling conference of the labor leaders of the country. Although the assignments of speakers have not yet been made by President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, it is said he will send his best men into the state, with the hope that a result of the demonstration will be the tying up of the mines throughout the state. At the Wheeling meeting it is probable Mahon, who is in charge of West Virginia, will be the principal speaker.

STRIKERS TRY THE COURT.

An Injunction Asked Against the Allegheny County, Pa., Sheriff.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 2.—William Warner, secretary of the United Mine Workers, went into court this morning and asked for an injunction against Sheriff Harvey A. Lowry, enjoining him from enforcing his proclamation.

Sheriff Lowry was told of Warner's plan. Mr. Lowry laughed. He said the court would pay no attention to such a proposition. The sheriff says that he is simply doing his duty and will continue to do so without favor to either side.

Sunday at the Turtle Creek camp was a very quiet one. Some of the men who had been on the march all of the week had gone home to get rest. There were a number of new faces in the camp. Altogether there were between 300 and 400 men gathered at Turtle Creek. There were a considerable number scattered over the hills about the town.

The men who are conducting the services at the gospel tent had the largest crowd. The tent was filled and at one side the canvas was opened so that the strikers could hear the services. About 100 of the men gathered around the opening and listened. The preachers quite frequently referred to the strike and offered advice to the miners. Messrs. Warner and Miller sat in the tent throughout the services.

General John Little and Joseph Bishop, members of the board of arbitration, visited the camp. They said that they had just gone out there to look the country over and see the condition of the men.

Sheriff Lowry said that he would not interfere with the strikers in holding meetings if they acted orderly. He will not allow them to go on the property of the New York and Cleveland Gas Coal company, nor will not allow them to act disorderly while marching on the road.

L. A. W. NATIONAL MEET.

An Interesting Program Arranged For Visiting Wheelmen at Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 2.—The eighteenth national meet of the League of American Wheelmen, for which preparations have been going on for over three months, will be held in this city during the coming week.

Tomorrow the Pennsylvania division of the league will hold a business meeting, after which the national meeting headquarters will be opened for registration and issuing of credentials. All of Wednesday and Thursday will be given to the tours and runs, and the visiting wheelmen will be taken to every point of interest in and about the city that can be reached by wheel. Wednesday night there will be an excursion on the Delaware river, and on Thursday night there will be an all night "smoker" at the national headquarters and a fete at Belmont mansion, in West Fairmount park. On both these nights as on the remaining days there will be "open house" in all the clubs of the city. The races will be held on Friday and Saturday at Willow Grove.

The veterans of the L. A. W. will have a meeting on Saturday night, which will be followed by a banquet. On Saturday morning the meet will close with an excursion to Atlantic City, and a large contingent will make the run on bicycles.

OVER 12,000 UNDER ARMS.

The Revolt in India Quite Formidable. Relief For a Fort.

SIMLA, Aug. 2.—In consequence of the rapid spread of the revolt, from 12,000 to 15,000 natives now being under arms, the government has ordered the reserve brigade to assemble under the command of Colonel Wodehouse.

Fort Chakdara is strong enough to resist any attack, and it has a good supply of ammunition. The only fear is that the garrison may become exhausted by constant fighting.

The tribesmen are sending forward fresh relays continually.

A reconnoitering column found the enemy in great force blocking the road to Chakdara.

During the fighting 100 of the enemy were killed, and the British had 14 wounded, among them Captain Baldwin, who was severely wounded, and Lieutenant Keyes, who received a slight wound.

The enemy followed up the retiring column and attacked the camp in a half-hearted way, being easily repulsed by the garrison.

General Blood, with every available man, started today for the relief of Fort Chakdara, and the garrison has been notified of his intention by Helio-graph. Heavy fighting is anticipated at Amandara.

TURKEY MUST EXPLAIN.

The Powers Receive a Protest From Serbia Over an Albanian Invasion.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 2.—Incursions of Albanians who recently attacked almost simultaneously seven Serbian block houses along the stretch of frontier between Madliza and Rashka have led the Serbian government to make a formal protest to the powers, and it is believed that this is part of an organized plan to provoke Serbia.

The matter is being discussed by the ambassadors in conference with a view of getting an explanation from Tewfik Pasha, the Turkish minister of foreign affairs. Word has been received here from Van, the capital of the Vilayet of Van, Armenia, that Armenian revolutionists are preparing to cross the Persian frontier.

GEN. BOND REMOVED.

Haskell Will Be Sealer of Weights and Measures in Washington.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—The district commissioners, believing that General Bond, sealer of weights and measures, had tendered his resignation, appointed W. C. Haskell of Ohio to that office. Discovering that the resignation had not been tendered the commissioners summarily removed Bond and the way is now open for Haskell.

Haskell was United States marshal for the Northern district of Ohio under Harrison and for a year has been looking after Mr. Hanna's work in the Perry Payne building, Cleveland.

To Protect a Gold Steamer.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—Captain Hooper, in command of the revenue cutter patrol fleet, has been directed to assign the Bear to protect the steamer Portland, returning from Alaska with gold. The report that the convoy had been requested through fear of Chinese pirates has afforded much amusement to naval officers.

Ex-Postmaster McKean Injured.

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 2.—While ex-Postmaster James S. McKean and his friend, R. Wilson of Pittsburg, were riding in a bus driven by a Mr. Bullock the kingbolt of the vehicle pulled out and it toppled over. Bullock was killed. Mr. McKean was severely cut and Mr. Wilson was badly bruised about the body.

TARIFF LAW PROTESTS

Foreign Objections Filed While the Bill Was Pending.

MOST ALL INTIMATED RETALIATION

Declared the Rates Would Injure Our Commerce and Cut Down Our Revenues—Italy Would Not Grant a Requested Favor—The Other Protests.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—In a late number of The Congressional Record containing speeches on the tariff conference report is a speech by M. N. Johnson of North Dakota, in which he makes a compilation of the protests received by the state department from representatives of foreign governments against certain duties imposed in the Dingley tariff bill while that measure was pending. Some of these protests have been made public, others have been referred to the committees of congress having the tariff bill in charge, and little or no attention has been paid to them. Nearly all these communications insist that the new tariff will retard commerce, and some of them intimate that it will result in decreasing the demand for American goods and that the injury to be done the treasury of the United States on account of the imposition of the proposed duties will be considerable.

Minister Brun of Denmark says the admission of Danish products on a favorable tariff would only be a fair return for the rates granted American products. The Danish products which he said would be greatly affected by the new bill were: Beer, cement, white cabbages, hemp seed, porcelain, hides and skins, wool, rags, pebbles, lime, chalk, gloves, leather, condensed milk, granite, monuments, dairy machinery and Doecker tents.

There are three communications from Baron Fava, the Italian ambassador. The first protests against the duty on Italian oranges and lemons which he says would prove very disastrous to the Italian trade in these fruits. A second communication from Baron Fava is against the 60 per cent duty on candied fruits which the manufacturers of Leghorn say would destroy their market in the United States. In a third communication Baron Fava speaks of a letter of the secretary of agriculture in which he refers to a ministerial decree of Italy relating to meats from the United States. This decree required a consular visa for certificates of origin, issued by American authorities and accompanying shipments of meat. Baron Fava informs the state department that Italy would not grant the request of this government if the rates in the pending tariff bill went into effect.

Count Lichtervelde, minister of Belgium, sent three communications concerning the tariff. One referred to the retroactive clause adopted by the house and pointed out that it works great hardship upon those who were shipping articles which could not be safely transported in the winter, such as plants and bulbs. The other communications refer to the rates on cement and sprats and sardines. He says that the discontinuance of the exportation of Belgian cement would result disastrously to grain exported from the United States on account of the higher rates that would be charged because vessels would have to sail one way in ballast.

The Turkish government protests against the duty of $1 per pound on crude opium and says that the tariff cannot be for the purpose of protecting a home industry or to secure increased revenue.

J. B. Pioda, minister of Switzerland, says that the new tariff will be disastrous to three principal industries of Switzerland, Swiss embroidered goods, silks, watches and clocks. He says his government "appeals to the sentiments of friendship and equity of its sister republic."

Sir Julian Pauncefote sent two very brief communications, one in December, 1896, informing Mr. Olney that the fishery board of Scotland protested against the high rate on cured herrings, and that at the request of the Marquis of Salisbury he represents to the United States government that the high rates which the Dingley bill imposes on salt mackerel and other cured fish would cause grave injury to the fishermen on the west coast of Ireland.

The protests of the German ambassador and the Austrian minister against the countervailing duty on bounty export sugar have already been published.

The consul general of Greece protests against the rate imposed upon Zente currents and raisins.

Fifty-three Irish members of the British parliament join in a letter to President McKinley saying that the duty on cured mackerel and herring caught on the west coast of Ireland will work a great hardship to the Irish fishermen and praying the president to secure a modification of the rates in the Dingley bill.

The protest of Argentine against the duty on hides and wool and of Japan against a number of duties has already been published. China made a protest on lines similar to those of Japan.

Potters Want Wages Restored.

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 2.—The working potters have decided to ask the manufacturers for the restoration within 60 days of the 12½ per cent cut in their wages made in 1894. The men claim that the increased tariff rate on pottery made in the Dingley bill justifies them in their request.

THE MURDER AT SCOTSDALE.

W. C. Hubbs Arrested, Accused of Murdering Non-Unionist Cummings.

SCOTSDALE, Aug. 2.—A. M. Cummings, the leader of the non-union men who came here from Appollo to break the strike at the Scottdale Iron and Steel works, was shot and killed in a riot that occurred in front of the Commercial hotel Saturday evening. John Evans and James Dolff, two other non-union men, who were with him, were seriously wounded. Several strikers are supposed to have been shot, but their names are unknown.

The coroner's jury rendered a verdict that William S. Cummings came to his death from the bullet fired into his brain from a revolver held in the hands of William C. Hubbs, with felonious intent, on July 31, 1897, in the borough of Scottdale, Pa. W. C. Hubbs was immediately placed under arrest by Sheriff Seaton and taken to jail at Greensburg in a carriage in charge of three deputies.

DOLAN UNDER ARREST.

Operator DeArmit Swore Out a Warrant Against the District President at Pittsburg—Others Also Mentioned. Dolan Released on Bail This Morning.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 2.—The miners' strike took a sensational turn early this morning, when Patrick Dolan while leading 500 strikers through Turtle Creek on their way to the Plum Creek mines was arrested by Constable R. B. Speer, who served a warrant charging Dolan with riot and unlawful assembly.

The warrant was sworn out by Operator DeArmit. Dolan was soon released on $500 bail, furnished by Nicolas Cehm.

The arrest caused some little excitement among the miners, but Dolan made an address in which he cautioned them to be orderly, that the arrest did not amount to anything. He at once named a successor to lead the men on to the Plum Creek mines, and then went quietly with the officer.

The warrant on which Dolan was arrested also calls for the arrest of Cameron Miller, William Warner, Charles Shaw and several other people, prominently identified with the strike.

Speaking of his arrest, Mr. Dolan commented bitterly on the action of DeArmit. He accuses the operators of trying to incite riot by causing an arrest at such a time and place.

He claims he was not disturbing anyone and that his arrest was made without cause. He thinks the arrest, however, will help the cause of the strike. Mr. Dolan is also of the opinion that there has been some juggling in dates on the warrant.

The date is July 31, but Mr. Dolan is inclined to think the warrants were made out yesterday, in which case he promises to make trouble. The warrants were issued by W. H. Summers of Turtle Creek.

PUDDLING AT $4 A TON.

The Reduction Accepted After a Long Conference at Youngstown.

YOUNGSTOWN, Aug. 2.—It was daylight Sunday morning before the iron manufacturers and the puddlers of the Amalgamated association conference committee agreed on a scale for puddling. There were 25 puddlers on the Amalgamated committee of 100, and the puddlers had the say about accepting or rejecting the proposition directly affecting them.

The puddlers made several attempts to effect a compromise and obtain $4.25 a ton for puddling, but the manufacturers positively refused to accede from their demand for a reduction from $4.50 to $4. When the puddlers held their last secret meeting to consider the matter the vote stood 13 to 12 in favor of taking the whole reduction, and this portion of the difficulty was at an end.

The new scale adopted is as follows: Four dollars a ton on a 1-cent card rate, $4.25 on a 1 1-10 rate, $4.10 on a 1 3-10 rate, $3.95 on a 1 4-10 rate and $3.80 on a 1 5-10 rate, a 1-cent card rate meaning when bar iron is selling for 1 cent a pound, etc.

It is expected the finishers' scale will be adjusted and the whole trouble brought to an end.

Reid to Visit the President.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—The president, immediately on learning of the arrival of Jubilee Ambassador Whitelaw Reid, telegraphed an invitation to himself and wife to make a visit to Mr. and Mrs. McKinley at their country retreat on Lake Champlain, beginning next Saturday. Later Mr. Reid will visit the Hon. John Sherman, secretary of state.

British Troops Victorious.

CAPTOWN, Aug. 2.—The government troops have captured all the enemy's positions north of Twaisloof. Among the British losses were Sergeants Hall and Mercer, who were killed. Chief Lukajantjes, who led the rebels, was killed.

TERROR IN HAVANA.

Wealthy People Leaving as Soon as Laws Permit.

ATTACK ON A SUBURB CONFIRMED.

A Spaniard Arriving at Tampa Describes the Raid—The Spaniards Routed—Rebels Sacked the Place—Secured $40,000 in Gold—Many Spaniards Killed.

TAMPA, Fla., Aug. 2.—The story telegraphed from Havana about an attack by insurgents on the suburbs of that city is confirmed by passengers from Havana on the Plant line steamer Mascott.

Among the number was Senor Calbajer, a wealthy Spaniard, and his wife and daughter, who are now to be reckoned among the refugees who have fled from Havana. The attack referred to was made on the little village of Marnanao, about ten miles southwest of the city and the terminus of the antiquated and dilapidated Marnanao railroad.

Senor Calbajer was an eyewitness of the attack on Marnanao. He says that the attack was led by Baldomero Coasta Juan Delgado and Hernandez. The insurgent chiefs left 500 of their troops outside of the town and carried in 300 to the attack. They were well armed with dynamite rapid fire guns and met with little resistance. The engagement was short and desperate.

Fifty-nine Spaniards were killed and 20 wounded; two Cubans were killed and 40 wounded. The inhabitants of the town fled for their lives, leaving the insurgents in complete possession. They sacked the place and secured $40,000 in gold besides a large quantity of supplies that they could not carry away. Other passengers tell about the same story of the affair. Senor Calbajer says that the wildest terror reigns in Havana and that the well-to-do inhabitants are leaving as fast as the local laws will permit.

REVIEWED BY THE PRESIDENT.

This Twenty-First Regiment, U. S. A., on Parade This Morning.

HOTEL CHAMPLAIN, N. Y., Aug. 2.—This morning the Twenty-first regiment marched to Bluff Point and was reviewed by the president and Secretary Alger.

President McKinley attended church in Plattsburg Sunday morning. The handsome Methodist Episcopal church was crowded. The president drove from the hotel in company with General and Mrs. Alger and Private Secretary and Mrs. Porter.

A number of people shook hands with the president as he came out. The presidential salute was given by the Twenty-first regiment. After lunch the presidential party took a short drive. During the afternoon the president received a committee from Troy, who asked the president to attend a reunion of the Army of the Potomac in Troy on Aug. 10. The president did not give a definite promise, except that he would attend if possible. Congressman Foot of this district and Congressman Southwick of Albany, who are cruising on Lake Champlain on Mr. Foote's yacht, also called to pay their respects. Tomorrow Lieutenant Governor Fiske of Vermont will call on the president to arrange for the latter's attendance at the midsummer meeting of the Vermont Fish and Game League on Friday at Mr. Fiske's place on Isle La Motte.

On Wednesday the president and secretary of war will review the Third cavalry at Fort Ethan Allen.

GHOSTLIKE THEY STRODE HOME.

YORK, Aug. 2.—Young men who hire teams from Liveryman Fleming have frequently made it a habit to return them with the information that they have no money and will pay for their use later. Mr. Fleming, wearied of that excuse and early Sunday morning took drastic measures to put an end to the deceit. On the previous evening two young men named John Shepp and William Gentsler, from Pleasantville, a town five miles from York, had hired a team to attend a rural festival and on the way back to town a collapse took place. The wrecked team was brought to York and within a square of the livery the horse was unhitched and started off for the stable. The plan of the men was to decamp, but a brawny employee of Mr. Fleming came upon the scene and sternly insisted upon payment being made.

The men went with him to the Fleming stable, and as no better compromise could be devised, agreed to leave their clothes as security for payment a week hence. Mr. Fleming and his hired man accordingly disrobed them, and at 3 o'clock in the morning, bareheaded and barefooted, like sleepwalkers, they made their way out of town with no other apparel on than their underclothing and a shirt.

Will Negotiate a New Treaty.

BRUSSELS, Aug. 2.—The Moniteur officially announces the fact that Great Britain has denounced the commercial treaty with Belgium, but adds that the British government has intimated its readiness to negotiate a new treaty.

He says that the discontinuance of the exportation of Belgian cement would result disastrously to grain exported from the United States on account of the higher rates that would be charged because vessels would have to sail one way in ballast.

The Turkish government protests against the duty of $1 per pound on crude opium and says that the tariff cannot be for the purpose of protecting a home industry or to secure increased revenue.

J. B. Pioda, minister of Switzerland, says that the new tariff will be disastrous to three principal industries of Switzerland, Swiss embroidered goods, silks, watches and clocks. He says his government "appeals to the sentiments of friendship and equity of its sister republic."

Sir Julian Pauncefoot sent two very brief communications, one in December, 1896, informing Mr. Olney that the fishery board of Scotland protested against the high rate on cured herrings, and that at the request of the Marquis of Salisbury he represents to the United States government that the high rates which the Dingley bill imposes on salt mackerel and other cured fish would cause grave injury to the fishermen on the west coast of Ireland.

The protests of the German ambassador and the Austrian minister against the countervailing duty on bounty export sugar have already been published.

The consul general of Greece protests against the rate imposed upon Zente currents and raisins.

Fifty-three Irish members of the British parliament join in a letter to President McKinley saying that the duty on cured mackerel and herring caught on the west coast of Ireland will work a great hardship to the Irish fishermen and praying the president to secure a modification of the rates in the Dingley bill.

The protest of Argentine against the duty on hides and wool and of Japan against a number of duties has already been published. China made a protest on lines similar to those of Japan.

Potters Want Wages Restored.

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 2.—The work-

ing potters have decided to ask the manufacturers for the restoration within 60 days of the 12½ per cent cut in their wages made in 1894. The men claim that the increased tariff rate on pottery made in the Dingley bill justify them in their request.

THE MURDER AT SCOTSDALE.

W. C. Hubbs Arrested, Accused of Murdering Non-Unionist Cummings.

SCOTSDALE, Aug. 2.—A. M. Cummings, the leader of the non-union men who came here from Apollo to break the strike at the Scottdale Iron and Steel works, was shot and killed in a riot that occurred in front of the Commercial hotel Saturday evening. John Evans and James Doll, two other non-union men, who were with him, were seriously wounded. Several strikers are supposed to have been shot, but their names are unknown.

The coroner's jury rendered a verdict that William S. Cummings came to his death from the bullet fired into his brain from a revolver held in the hands of William C. Hubbs, with felonious intent, on July 31, 1897, in the borough of Scottdale, Pa. W. C. Hubbs was immediately placed under arrest by Sheriff Seanor and taken to jail at Greensburg in a carriage in charge of three deputies.

DOLAN UNDER ARREST.

Operator DeArmit Sworn Out a Warrant Against the District President at Pittsburg—Others Also Mentioned. Dolan Released on Bail This Morning.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 2.—The miners' strike took a sensational turn early this morning, when Patrick Dolan while leading 500 strikers through Turtle Creek on their way to the Plum Creek mines was arrested by Constable R. B. Speer, who served a warrant charging Dolan with riot and unlawful assembly.

The warrant was sworn out by Operator DeArmit. Dolan was soon released on $500 bail, furnished by Nicolas Cehm.

The arrest caused some little excitement among the miners, but Dolan made an address in which he cautioned them to be orderly, that the arrest did not amount to anything. He at once named a successor to lead the men on to the Plum Creek mines, and then went quietly with the officer.

The warrant on which Dolan was arrested also calls for the arrest of Cameron Miller, William Warner, Charles Shaw and several other people, prominently identified with the strike.

Speaking of his arrest, Mr. Dolan commented bitterly on the action of DeArmit. He accuses the operators of trying to incite riot by causing an arrest at such a time and place.

He claims he was not disturbing anyone and that his arrest was made without cause. He thinks the arrest, however, will keep the cause of the strike. Mr. Dolan is also of the opinion that there has been some juggling in dates on the warrant.

The date is July 31, but Mr. Dolan is inclined to think the warrants were made out yesterday, in which case he promises to make trouble. The warrants were issued by W. H. Summers of Turtle Creek.

PUDDLING AT $4 A TON.

The Reduction Accepted After a Long Conference at Youngstown.

YOUNGSTOWN, Aug. 2.—It was daylight Sunday morning before the iron manufacturers and the puddlers of the Amalgamated association conference committee agreed on a scale for puddling. There were 25 puddlers on the Amalgamated committee of 100, and the puddlers had the say about accepting or rejecting the proposition directly affecting them.

The puddlers made several attempts to effect a compromise and obtain $4.25 a ton for puddling, but the manufacturers positively refused to accede from their demand for a reduction from $4.50 to $4. When the puddlers held their last secret meeting to consider the matter the vote stood 13 to 12 in favor of taking the whole reduction, and this portion of the difficulty was at an end.

The new scale adopted is as follows: Four dollars a ton on a 1-cent card rate, $4.25 on a 1 1-10 card rate, $4.75 on a 1 3-10 rate, $5 on a 1 4-10 rate and $4.25 on a 1 5-10 rate, a 1-cent card rate meaning when bar iron is selling for 1 cent a pound, etc.

It is expected the finishers' scale will be adjusted and the whole trouble brought to an end.

Reid to Visit the President.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—The president, immediately on learning of the arrival of Jubilee Ambassador Whitelaw Reid, telegraphed an invitation to himself and wife to make a visit to Mr. and Mrs. McKinley at their country retreat on Lake Champlain, beginning next Saturday. Later Mr. Reid will visit the Hon. John Sherman, secretary of state.

British Troops Victorious.

TERROR IN HAVANA.

Wealthy People Leaving as Soon as Laws Permit.

ATTACK ON A SUBURB CONFIRMED.

A Spaniard Arriving at Tampa Describes the Raid—The Spaniards Routed—Robbers Sacked the Place—Secured $40,000 in Gold—Many Spaniards Killed.

TAMPA, Fla., Aug. 2.—The story telegraphed from Havana about an attack by insurgents on the suburbs of that city is confirmed by passengers from Havana on the Plant line steamer Mascott.

Among the number was Senor Calbajer, a wealthy Spaniard, and his wife and daughter, who are now to be reckoned among the refugees who have fled from Havana. The attack referred to was made on the little village of Marnanao, about ten miles southwest of the city and the terminus of the antiquated and dilapidated Marnanao railroad.

Senor Calbajer was an eyewitness of the attack on Marnanao. He says that the attack was led by Baldomero Coasta Juan Delgado and Hernandez. The insurgent chiefs left 500 of their troops outside of the town and carried in 800 to the attack. They were well armed with dynamite rapid fire guns and met with but little resistance. The engagement was short and desperate.

Forty-nine Spaniards were killed and 20 wounded; two Cubans were killed and 40 wounded. The inhabitants of the town fled for their lives, leaving the insurgents in complete possession. They sacked the place and secured $40,000 in gold besides a large quantity of supplies that they could not carry away. Other passengers tell about the same story of the affair. Senor Calbajer says that the wildest terror reigns in Havana and that the well-to-do inhabitants are leaving as fast as the local laws will permit.

REVIEWED BY THE PRESIDENT.

The Twenty-First Regiment, U. S. A., on Parade This Morning.

HOTEL CHAMPLAIN, N. Y., Aug. 2.—This morning the Twenty-first regiment marched to Bluff Point and was reviewed by the president and Secretary Alger.

President McKinley attended church in Plattsburg Sunday morning. The handsome Methodist Episcopal church was crowded. The president drove from the hotel in company with General and Mrs. Alger and Private Secretary and Mrs. Porter.

A number of people shook hands with the president as he came out. The presidential salute was given by the Twenty-first regiment. After lunch the presidential party took a short drive. During the afternoon the president received a committee from Troy, who asked the president to attend a reunion of the Army of the Potomac in Troy on Aug. 10. The president did not give a definite promise, except that he would attend if possible. Congressman Foote of this district and Congressman Southwick of Albany, who are cruising on Lake Champlain on Mr. Foote's yacht, also called to pay their respects. Tomorrow Lieutenant Governor Fiske of Vermont will call on the president to arrange for the latter's attendance at the midsummer meeting of the Vermont Fish and Game League on Friday at Mr. Fiske's place on Isle La Motte.

On Wednesday the president and secretary of war will review the Third cavalry at Fort Ethan Allen.

GHOSTLIKE THEY STRODE HOME.

YORK, Aug. 2.—Young men who hire teams from Liveryman Fleming have frequently made it a habit to return them with the information that they have no money and will pay for their use later. Mr. Fleming wearied of that excuse and early Sunday morning took drastic measures to put an end to the deceit. On the previous evening two young men named John Shepp and William Gentsler, from Pleasantville, a town five miles from York, had hired a team to attend a rural festival and on the way back to town a collapse took place. The wrecked team was brought to York and within a square of the livery the horse was unhitched and started off for the stable. The plan of the men was to decamp, but a brawny employee of Mr. Fleming came upon the scene and sternly insisted upon payment being made.

The men went with him to the Fleming stable, and as no better compromise could be devised, agreed to leave their clothes as security for payment a week hence. Mr. Fleming and his hired man accordingly disrobed them, and at 2 o'clock in the morning, bareheaded and barefooted, like sleepwalkers, they made their way out of town with no other apparel on than their underclothing and a shirt.

Will Negotiate a New Treaty.

Liverpool Boys Found Him In Wellsville.

A LIVELY ROW WAS THE RESULT

He Says Their Charges Are Unjust, and the Matter Can Be Explained—Reverend Lowry Has Taken a Trip on His Wheel Killed a Mad Dog.

A Liverpool man created a sensation in the lower part of town last night where he was found by relatives in company with a woman whom they said was not a proper companion. There are rumors of a row of no small proportions, but the particulars of the matter are being closely guarded. The man in question declares that he is innocent of any wrong doing, and can explain the matter. The woman has resided here two weeks.

The News of Wellsville.

A mad dog was killed on Liverpool street about noon today, by William Lloyd. The animal was a hound, and its owner could not be found.

Reverend Lowry, of the Presbyterian church, has been granted a month's leave of absence, and left today on his bicycle for Chautauqua. There he will remain two weeks, and the other part of his vacation will be spent at Poland, Pa. Reverend McKee will preach for him during his absence.

Prof. H. C. Henderson spoke in the Methodist Episcopal church last night on "Church or Saloon. Which?" The church was crowded and the address intensely interesting.

Real estate is, as the dealers say, looking up. One well-known dealer says he has had more inquiries for property within the last three weeks than during the remainder of the year.

The town was unusually quiet yesterday. Mayor Jones did not have a case. Not even a train jumper was arrested.

It is reported that a Liverpool officer came here yesterday to arrest a young man on a delicate charge, but he escaped.

TWO GIRLS AFLOAT

Charles Skyes was walking on Babbs' Island last evening when he noticed a skiff containing two young ladies floating down the river. They beckoned to him and he procured a skiff and rowed to them. When he reached the craft the girls told him they had gone out on the water with two East End boys, and after a time the boys pulled to the shore, got out and took the oars with them. They then pushed the craft in the water, and the girls floated down stream.

A GOOD RECORD.

Shipments of Crockery Are Gratifyingly Big.

When the reports for the day had been made out at the freight station, Saturday, it was found 92 cars had been handled. Ten were unloaded and 15 were sent out.

A CINDER PATH

Is Still Being Considered by Wheelmen.

The wheelmen of the city have not yet given up the idea of a cinder path to East End, and look upon the proceedings instituted to secure a right of way a step in the proper direction. The matter will be brought out early in the spring, and it is thought it can be pushed to a successful completion next year.

THE KLONDIKE GOLD.

PROFESSOR OF GEOLOGY AT OBERLIN COLLEGE ON ITS SOURCE.

The Gold Probably a Glacial Deposit From the Disintegrated "Mother Lode"—This Country Must Hold on to Her Treaty Rights in the Klondike Region.

The discovery of gold in large quantities on the Yukon river is by no means unexpected. Eleven years ago the last word I heard as I left Juneau was the pledge of a returning tourist to meet his friend the next summer and prospect in the Yukon region.

The great mass of gold bearing quartz at the Treadwell mine, near Juneau, was what might be expected, and at the same time what might be the limitation of the supply. For more than ten years that mine has furnished more than $1,000,000 of gold annually, but it is not like ordinary quartz mines. It is rather a great, isolated mass of quartz with gold disseminated all through it. While its worth is great, its length is limited.

Little is known about the geology of the Yukon river, where the Klondike mines have been found. Being placer mines, the gold may have been transported many miles. The means of transportation are both glaciers and rivers. The Klondike region is on the north side of the St. Elias Alps. Alaska was never completely covered with glacial ice. The glaciers flowed both north and south from these summits. Dawson and Professor Russell both report well defined terminal moraines across the upper Yukon valley. The source of the Klondike gold, therefore, is from the south.

Placer mines originate in the disintegration of gold bearing quartz veins or mass like that at Juneau. Under subaerial agencies these become dissolved. Then the glaciers transport the material as far as they go, when the floods of water carry it on still farther. Gold, being heavier than the other materials associated with it, lodges in the crevasses or in the rough places at the bottom of the streams. So to speak, nature has stamped and "panned" the gravel first and prepared the way for man to finish the work. The amount of gold found in the placer mines is evidence not so much, perhaps, of a very rich vein as of the disintegration of a very large vein.

The "mother lode" has been looked for in vain in California, and perhaps will be so in Alaska. But it exists somewhere up the streams on which the placer mines are found. The discovery of gold in glacial deposits far away from its native place is familiar to American geologists.

I have encountered placer mines in glacial deposits near Aurora in southeastern Indiana, in Adams county in southern Ohio and near Titusville in western Pennsylvania, where, I see, there is a new excitement. But in all these cases the gold had been brought several hundred miles by glacial ice from Canada or the region about Lake Superior. These gold mines were near the edge of the glacial region, where there had been much assorting action of both ice and water.

It is evident, however, that in Alaska the transportation of the gold has not gone so far. The difficulties of this transportation into the Klondike region and the shortness of the season will continue to be great drawbacks to working the mines. The pass north of Chilkat is 7,000 feet above sea level and but a few miles back from the ocean. There is no possibility of a road over it. But from Taku inlet, near Juneau, reader access can be had. This route was followed by Schwatka and Mr. Hayes of the United States geological survey a few years ago and has been partially surveyed with reference to a railroad line and reported to be available. The only other way is by a river which is open to navigation only a short time each year and is a great way around.

The general climatic conditions on the north side of the mountains are much better than those on the south side. On the south side the snowfall is enormous, but on the north side the air is drier. Schwatka and Hayes went in the summer down the Yukon valley about to the Klondike region, and from there struck off west, passing to the north of Mount St. Elias and down the Copper river. They had dry weather all the time, in which camping was pleasant, while Russell the same season was driven back by inclement weather from ascending St. Elias on the south side. It is therefore not impossible that explorations southwest of the present gold-fields may be carried on with comparative ease. But at present that whole region is bare of means of subsistence.

There is imminent danger that many will get in there before winter with insufficient means and starve. Eventually the reindeer which Sheldon Jackson is introducing will be available both for transportation and food, being much superior to dogs in that they can procure their own food. But for the present every necessity must either be packed over the Chilkat pass or brought around by way of the Yukon.

As to the ultimate yield of the mines or the prospect of finding more, we have nothing but conjecture to go upon. The geologists who have visited the region were not the ones who discovered the gold. What the prospectors have found points to more. The unexplored region is immense. The mountains to the south are young, having been elevated very much since the climax of the glacial period. With these discoveries and the success in introducing reindeer, Alaska bids fair to support a population eventually of several millions. The United States must hold on to her treaty rights with Great Britain for the protection of our interests there. If England accomplishes her unreasonable designs, she would shut us off from all communication with the Klondike region except by way of the Yukon.—George Fredrick Wright in New York Journal.

An Oil Man Missing.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 2.—E. L. Smith, Cleveland manager of the Pennsylvania Oil company, is reported missing. He was employed by W. A. Luce of Meadville, Pa., who organized the company some years ago. E. Howard Morris of Milwaukee, receiver for the West Superior Iron and Steel company, has secured from Judge Vinje an order permitting him to operate the works during the remainder of his term as receiver. It is expected that John D. Rockefeller will get control of the plant.

The plans for additional improvements in the channel of St. Mary's river have been approved by the Canadian government. It means the expenditure of nearly $500,000. The improvements include the widening of the channel through the Round Island shoals, this side of Bay Mills, and the Middle Neebish channel.

Application was made in the United States court at Atlanta for a receiver for the Yorkville Mining company, organized in 1895 to develop gold-bearing properties in Paulding county. The application will be heard Monday. Twenty-four thousand dollars has been expended in the purchase of land and no money is left to develop the mine.

X RAYS IN A NEW ROLE

A CASE IN WHICH THEY RENDERED THE SURGEON'S KNIFE USELESS.

By Their Aid a Physician Removed a Key From a Boy's Stomach Without an Incision—An Operation Which May Mark a New Era in Surgery.

Dr. A. H. Arp of Moline, Ill., in a letter to Dr. Heber Roberts, editor of The American X Ray Journal, gives the details of a recent operation under the fluoroscope which will revolutionize the science of surgery as applied to the removal of foreign substances in the esophagus or stomach. Since his initial experiment Dr. Arp has invented an instrument with which, under the fluoroscope, he claims that he can remove any foreign body from the stomach without the necessity of an incision with a knife. As far as the esophagus and stomach are concerned, there will never again be occasion for the surgeon's knife to remove such an obstruction as a key, piece of money or wish-bone.

Dr. Arp is one of the foremost physicians and surgeons of Illinois. His discovery has set the medical thinking, and some behold in it the stepping stone to still more marvelous feats of operation in intestinal troubles without the aid of the knife.

Dr. Roberts considers the operation the beginning of a long list of marvels which he thinks are to be accomplished under the X rays.

On June 16 a boy 5 years old was brought to Dr. Arp. He suffered from hemorrhage and after meals was seized with severe pains in the stomach—so severe that the child would refuse food for days rather than endure the torture which followed a meal. Under the fluoroscope a key was revealed lodged in the boy's stomach. Then it was remembered by his parents that he had swallowed a bookcase key 14 months previously.

On June 19 Dr. Arp resolved on a novel experiment. Under the usual method he would have found a surgical operation with the knife necessary to dislodge the key. He resolved to use no knife. The boy was rendered unconscious by anaesthetics. A forceps, used for operating in the esophagus, was inserted. Under the fluoroscope the key and forceps shone out plainly in the stomach. When inserted full length, the forceps failed to reach the key by three inches. The operating table was tilted so that his head would hang downward. With his right hand Dr. Arp kneaded the stomach so that the key would be forced toward the forceps. The process had the desired effect, but caused a severe flow of blood. Bringing the key and forceps together was a difficult task, as the doctor had no control over the forceps and was compelled to force the key to it.

When clinched, the boy's position was changed to keep the blood out of the trachea. The key was then extracted, causing severe hemorrhage.

When restored to consciousness, the boy was treated to small pieces of ice and strong solution of chloride of iron, upon which all bleeding ceased. He has since recovered almost completely.

The key had corroded so that it was thin and sharp, with jagged edges like that of a saw. Unless removed it would have caused the child's death. The operation is the first of its kind on record and gives but a faint insight into the future possibilities of the X ray applied to human ills.—St. Louis Republic.

Abuse of Free Dispensaries.

Much discussion has been caused of late by the alleged abuse of the privileges of the free dispensaries. Dr. George F. Shady of New York wrote recently that "fully 50 per cent of the patients who apply for free medical aid are totally undeserving of such charity. In New York alone there are 116 dispensaries, each one of which is vying with the others in propagating the worst form of pauperism. The institutions in question are all crowded daily by hundreds of well to do patients who are encouraged to defraud the really poor and to cheat the charitably disposed doctor of his legitimate fee. Charity, as applied to most of the dispensaries, especially those in the wealthy districts, is a mere name." He believes that physicians, in their desire for clinical experiences, have created a rapidly growing evil. It is proposed that a place of registration be adopted and all nonurgent cases be investigated. The emergency cases, for the first time at least, would be treated without question.

For more than ten years that mine has furnished more than $1,000,000 of gold annually, but it is not like ordinary quartz mines. It is rather a great, isolated mass of quartz with gold disseminated all through it. While its worth is great, its length is limited.

Little is known about the geology of the Yukon river, where the Klondike mines have been found. Being placer mines, the gold may have been transported many miles. The means of transportation are both glaciers and rivers. The Klondike region is on the north side of the St. Elias Alps. Alaska was never completely covered with glacial ice. The glaciers flowed both north and south from these summits. Dawson and Professor Russell both report well defined terminal moraines across the upper Yukon valley. The source of the Klondike gold, therefore, is from the south.

Placer mines originate in the disintegration of gold bearing quartz veins or mass like that at Juneau. Under subaerial agencies these become dissolved. Then the glaciers transport the material as far as they go, when the floods of water carry it on still farther. Gold, being heavier than the other materials associated with it, lodges in the crevasses or in the rough places at the bottom of the streams. So to speak, nature has stamped and "panned" the gravel first and prepared the way for man to finish the work. The amount of gold found in the placer mines is evidence not so much, perhaps, of a very rich vein as of the disintegration of a very large vein.

The "mother lode" has been looked for in vain in California, and perhaps will be so in Alaska. But it exists somewhere up the streams on which the placer mines are found. The discovery of gold in glacial deposits far away from its native place is familiar to American geologists.

I have encountered placer mines in glacial deposits near Aurora in southeastern Indiana, in Adams county in southern Ohio and near Titusville in western Pennsylvania, where, I see, there is a new excitement. But in all these cases the gold had been brought several hundred miles by glacial ice from Canada or the region about Lake Superior. These gold mines were near the edge of the glacial region, where there had been much assorting action of both ice and water.

It is evident, however, that in Alaska the transportation of the gold has not gone so far. The difficulties of this transportation into the Klondike region and the shortness of the season will continue to be great drawbacks to working the mines. The pass north of Chilkat is 7,000 feet above sea level and but a few miles back from the ocean. There is no possibility of a road over it. But from Taku inlet, near Juneau, readier access can be had. This route was followed by Schwatka and Mr. Hayes of the United States geological survey a few years ago and has been partially surveyed with reference to a railroad line and reported to be available. The only other way is by a river which is open to navigation only a short time each year and is a great way around.

The general climatic conditions on the north side of the mountains are much better than those on the south side. On the south side the snowfall is enormous, but on the north side the air is drier. Schwatka and Hayes went in the summer down the Yukon valley about to the Klondike region, and from there struck off west, passing to the north of Mount St. Elias and down the Copper river. They had dry weather all the time, in which camping was pleasant, while Russell the same season was driven back by inclement weather from ascending St. Elias on the south side. It is therefore not impossible that explorations southwest of the present gold-fields may be carried on with comparative ease. But at present that whole region is bare of means of subsistence.

There is imminent danger that many will get in there before winter with insufficient means and starve. Eventually the reindeer which Sheldon Jackson is introducing will be available both for transportation and food, being much superior to dogs in that they can procure their own food. But for the present every necessity must either be packed over the Chilkat pass or brought around by way of the Yukon.

As to the ultimate yield of the mines or the prospect of finding more, we have nothing but conjecture to go upon. The geologists who have visited the region were not the ones who discovered the gold. What the prospectors have found points to more. The unexplored region is immense. The mountains to the south are young, having been elevated very much since the climax of the glacial period. With these discoveries and the success in introducing reindeer, Alaska bids fair to support a population eventually of several millions. The United States must hold on to her treaty rights with Great Britain for the protection of her interests there. If England accomplishes her unreasonable designs, she would shut us off from all communication with the Klondike region except by way of the Yukon.—George Fredrick Wright in New York Journal.

An Oil Man Missing.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 2.—E. L. Smith, Cleveland manager of the Pennsylvania Oil company, is reported missing. He was employed by W. A. Luce of Meadville, Pa., who organized the company some years ago. E. X RAYS IN A NEW ROLE

A CASE IN WHICH THEY RENDERED THE SURGEON'S KNIFE USELESS.

By Their Aid a Physician Removed a Key From a Boy's Stomach Without an Incision—An Operation Which May Mark a New Era In Surgery.

Dr. A. H. Arp of Moline, Ill., in a letter to Dr. Huber Roberts, editor of The American X Ray Journal, gives the details of a recent operation under the fluoroscope which will revolutionize the science of surgery as applied to the removal of foreign substances in the esophagus or stomach. Since his initial experiment Dr. Arp has invented an instrument with which, under the fluoroscope, he claims that he can remove any foreign body from the stomach without the necessity of an incision with a knife. As far as the esophagus and stomach are concerned, there will never again be occasion for the surgeon's knife to remove such an obstruction as a key, piece of money or wishbone.

Dr. Arp is one of the foremost physicians and surgeons of Illinois. His discovery has set the medical thinking, and some behold in it the stepping stone to still more marvelous feats of operation in intestinal troubles without the aid of the knife.

On June 16 a boy 5 years old was brought to Dr. Arp. He suffered from hemorrhage and after meals was seized with severe pains in the stomach—so severe that the child would refuse food for days rather than endure the torture which followed a meal. Under the fluoroscope a key was revealed lodged in the boy's stomach. Then it was remembered by his parents that he had swallowed a bookcase key 14 months previously.

On June 19 Dr. Arp resolved on a novel experiment. Under the usual method he would have found a surgical operation with the knife necessary to dislodge the key. He resolved to use no knife. The boy was rendered unconscious by anesthetics. A forceps, used for operating in the esophagus, was inserted. Under the fluoroscope the key and forceps shone out plainly in the stomach. When inserted full length, the forceps failed to reach the key by three inches. The operating table was tilted so that his head would hang downward. With his right hand Dr. Arp kneaded the stomach so that the key would be forced toward the forceps. The process had the desired effect, but caused a severe flow of blood. Bringing the key and forceps together was a difficult task, as the doctor had no control over the forceps and was compelled to force the key to it.

When clinched, the boy's position was changed to keep the blood out of the trachea. The key was then extracted, causing severe hemorrhage.

When restored to consciousness, the boy was treated to small pieces of ice and strong solution of chloride of iron, upon which all bleeding ceased. He has since recovered almost completely.

The key had corroded so that it was thin and sharp, with jagged edges like that of a saw. Unless removed it would have caused the child's death. The operation is the first of its kind on record and gives but a faint insight into the future possibilities of the X ray applied to human ills.—St. Louis Republic.

Abuse of Free Dispensaries.

Much discussion has been caused of late by the alleged abuse of the privileges of the free dispensaries. Dr. George F. Shady of New York wrote recently that "fully 50 per cent of the patients who apply for free medical aid are totally undeserving of such charity. In New York alone there are 116 dispensaries, each one of which is rying with the others in propagating the worst form of pauperism. The institutions in question are all crowded daily by hundreds of well to do patients who are encouraged to defraud the really poor and to cheat the charitably disposed doctor of his legitimate fee. Charity, as applied to most of the dispensaries, especially those in the wealthy districts, is a mere name." He believes that physicians, in their desire for clinical experiences, have created a rapidly growing evil. It is proposed that a place of registration be adopted and all nonurgent cases be investigated. The emergency cases, for the first time at least, would be treated without question.

WE LOST THIS GAME

Wellsville Won Without Much Trouble.

SEVERAL LITTLE DIFFICULTIES

The Teams Were Out For Blood, and It seemed a Number of Times as Though There Would Be Something More Serious Than Fun—A Broad Challenge.

The base ball game Saturday afternoon at Wellsville was a very poor exhibition, and the East Liverpool club met defeat by a score of 10 to 9.

The game opened with Liverpool at the bat. They succeeded in scoring three runs on errors by Hester, McShane, Heakin, Tolan and Jobling. Wellsville was shut out in their half, and Liverpool received a goose egg in the second while the Crescents scored two bases on balls and three errors by McNicol.

In the third the game came near ending in a general fight. McNicol, the first man to the bat, hit Hester who threw him out at first. In running to the base McNicol slid in and and Jobling accused him of trying to spike him. A few hot words followed and McNicol turned away. He was followed by Jobling who attempted to strike the little shortstop. McNicol retaliated and Jobling was fast getting the worst of the battle when spectators interfered. George Kennedy was struck several times during the fight, and it looked as though a greater part of the Wellsville people were trying to fight two Liverpool ball players, while one of the Wellsville team paraded around with a bat in his hand declaring himself. The disturbance was quieted, and Liverpool scored one run on a two-base hit and an error by McGurran. Wellsville tied the score in their half on two hits and errors by Kennedy, McNicol and Lynch. In the fourth Callahan decided to quit umpiring, and Salsbury was selected to take his place against the protests of Hester and Jobling. Each team received a whitewash in the fourth and fifth, but in the sixth Liverpool scored three on two hits and errors by Hester and McGurran. In their half the Crescents won the game by making five hits, which, coupled with errors by McNicol, Davis and T. Kennedy, gave them six runs. In the seventh each team was shut out, and in the eighth with two men on bases Umpire Stafford called a foul ball from the bat of McCurran, which Jobling picked up two feet outside of the base, a fair and declared the winner out. Liverpool kicked, and the umpire finally reversed his decision. Each team received a whitewash in this inning. In the ninth the Liverpool boys scored one run but the side was retired on a fly to Heakin and the game was over. The score:

WILL PLAY FOR MONEY.

Manager Dix Makes a Straight Out Proposition.

The following letter explains itself:

"We, hereby challenge the Crescent baseball team, of Wellsville, to play a series of three games for $100 aside and the entire gate receipts, the loser to pay all expenses. One game is to be played at Wellsville, one at East Liverpool and in case of a tie the other to take place on neutral grounds to be selected. If the challenge is accepted a forfeit of $25 to be posted with the NEWS REVIEW of this city as an evidence of good faith and the players to be selected from the two cities."

Our Nation's Wealth In Gold Dollars.

The wealthiest nation of the world is the United States. The census of 1890 shows the true valuation, or fair selling price, of the real and personal property of the country to be $65,037,091,197. It is an increase of over 49 per cent on the valuation of the previous decade and is about six times the value of the money of the entire world. The mind cannot grasp the meaning of such figures without graphic illustration. This amount in gold dollars would load 123,570 carts, each carrying a ton. If 2,000 gold dollars were piled one on the other, they would form a stack three feet high. Make similar piles close together till a wall of gold one mile long and worth $230,403,000 is formed. Increase this wall to 28¼ miles and the amount would represent our national wealth. Placed side by side the coins would form a carpet of gold covering five square miles.—William George Jordan in Ladies' Home Journal.

ONLY BEER HIS FOOD.

FOR NINETEEN YEARS HE TOOK NO OTHER NOURISHMENT.

Remarkable Surgical Operation That Cured a Case of Arrested Development — The Ailment Puzzled Doctors and Was the Only Instance of the Kind Known.

One of the most remarkable cases in medical history, say physicians, is that of Joseph Beschlagengaul, a young German watchmaker living at 360 Sedgwick street, Chicago. It is asserted by some that his ailment is the only instance of its kind ever known.

For 19 years this young man was compelled to live on beer alone, and during that time his body experienced only as much growth as it should have had in four years. Two surgical operations have resulted in an almost complete cure, and Beschlagengaul is now on the high road to health. The remarkable effectiveness of the operations was shown in a phenomenal growth of 6 inches in two months and in a gain in weight of over 50 pounds.

A little over a year ago an emaciated boy was sent one day to the German hospital on the North Side and asked if something could not be done for him. The boy was chiefly skin and bones. He weighed 72½ pounds, was 4½ feet in height and appeared to the doctors to be about 11 years of age. They were astounded when the diminutive youth told them he was 26 years old. The interest of the physicians then increased materially, and Beschlagengaul was given an unusually careful examination. After a thorough investigation Dr. C. Fenger diagnosed the trouble as a contraction of the pyloric orifice, superinduced by a chronic inflammation of the stomach.

The surgeon, it is said, noticed an undulating motion on the surface of the abdomen, apparently indicating an effort of the stomach to force its contents through its lower opening, the pyloric orifice, and this confirmed him in the belief that his diagnosis was correct. An operation was decided upon. The boy was placed upon an operating table and put under the influence of an anæsthetic. Vivisection was then begun by Dr. Fenger, assisted by Dr. H. J. Haiselden and others.

An opening over a foot long was made in the front of the body. The stomach was opened, and it was found that the orifice, which should be almost as large as one's little finger, was scarcely big enough to permit the insertion of a match. No effort was made to enlarge the opening. Instead a hole was cut in the stomach near this point.

Then another hole was cut in a near loop of the intestine, and the edges of the two incisions were brought together and fastened by a metallic Murphy button, through the middle of which runs a tube. Thus an entirely new opening for the passage of food from the stomach was made.

The effect of this first operation was almost magical. The natural effort of the body to assimilate food and to grow, which had been retarded for almost two decades, exerted itself with marvelous force. For a period the appetite of the boy was ravenous. Day after day he ate like a starved animal. For several weeks he gained flesh at the rate of 2½ pounds a day. His growth in height was even more remarkable. In two months he measured 5 feet, an increase of half a foot over his stature when the operation was performed. His growth continued, but more slowly, until at present he is almost 5 feet 2 inches tall.

A reaction from the first effects set in after a few months, and the boy's weight, which had gone up from 72½ to 130 pounds, fell off until he weighed only 108 pounds. A second operation was determined upon and made. It was most beneficial, and the boy was soon almost as heavy as he had been formerly. The young man is now in the best of health and suffers only occasionally from pains in the locality of the metal button, which has not yet been removed.

A brief resume of the interesting features of the history of the case may best be given in the words of the young German.

"I am a watchmaker by profession and I can assure you I am badly in need of work these hard times," said Beschlagengaul. "I am a native of Bavaria, where I lived with my family until I was 21 years old. When I was 7 years of age, I was attacked by inflammation of the stomach and then my trouble began. Three years later I was kicked in the stomach by an ox and I remained unconscious for two whole days, but so far as I knew this had no effect on my stomach trouble. Of course it seems that this accident might have aggravated my trouble, but I detected no difference. Almost immediately after the inflammation began it became impossible for me to retain solid food in my stomach. No matter how simple or digestible the food, if it was solid the stomach at once rejected it. For 19 years, from the time I was 7 until I was 26 years of age, I practically lived on beer and nothing else.

He Promotes Restaurants.

A shrewd New Yorker, who started his business career over 30 years ago as a purveyor of coffee and crullers in an all night booth at old Fulton market, is making a barrel of money, his friends say, as a promoter of restaurants.

This eating house speculator, after selecting a location, opens a spick and span new restaurant, with cheap prices, excellent service, first class cooking and top notch meats and bread, vegetables and pastry, coffee and biscuits. He soon builds up a fine trade. His patrons praise the place for one or more of its specialties, and then the promoter sells out at a handsome profit. Soon afterward the chef, the pastry cook, the man who bakes the delicious raised biscuit and the keen eyed, alert head waiter find one excuse or another for taking leave. They are not tired of working nor dissatisfied with the wages received. They have received notice from the promoter that he is ready to open another restaurant and that their experience and services are necessary to him in giving the new place the reputation that will draw full tables and enable the promoter to land another purchaser.

This speculator does not confine his efforts to New York. Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago and even Denver and San Francisco have seen the same crowd, and the patrons are wondering why the coffee, fish cakes, hashed brown potatoes and gooseberry tarts aren't so nice as when "this place was opened."

Umpire Stafford evidently was not umpiring for the purpose of giving East Liverpool the best of the decision on balls and strikes.

Hester was hit on the nose shortly before the game by a batted ball, but was not seriously injured.

In the ninth inning Manager Grafton tried to put Mike Lynch off the diamond, but ran up against a snag, and it looked as though another fight would take place.

It is indeed a shame that the two teams cannot play ball without quarreling and participating in the disgraceful proceedings of Saturday.

Liverpool lost the game through stupid base running.

Clark played a good game at third.

Saturday evening the Wellsville rooters gave a trolley party, and came through the city blowing tin horns and burning fireworks.

The Second Avenue Maroons defeated Irondale by a score of 9 to 0.

It is said that Tom Stafford has refused an offer to umpire in the National league.

WILL PLAY FOR MONEY.

Manager Dix Makes a Straight Out Proposition.

The following letter explains itself:

"We, hereby challenge the Crescent baseball team, of Wellsville, to play a series of three games for $100 aside and the entire gate receipts, the loser to pay all expenses. One game is to be played at Wellsville, one at East Liverpool and in case of a tie the other to take place on neutral grounds to be selected. If the challenge is accepted a forfeit of $25 to be posted with the NEWS REVIEW of this city as an evidence of good faith and the players to be selected from the two cities."

Mgr. East Liverpool Baseball club.

Our Nation's Wealth in Gold Dollars.

The wealthiest nation of the world is the United States. The census of 1890 shows the true valuation, or fair selling price, of the real and personal property of the country to be $65,037,091,197. It is an increase of over 49 per cent on the valuation of the previous decade and is about six times the value of the money of the entire world. The mind cannot grasp the meaning of such figures without graphic illustration. This amount in gold dollars would load 123,570 carts, each carrying a ton. If 2,000 gold dollars were piled one on the other, they would form a stack three feet high. Make similar piles close together till a wall of gold one mile long and worth $230,403,000 is formed. Increase this wall to 28½ miles and the amount would represent our national wealth. Placed side by side the coins would form a carpet of gold covering five square miles.—William George Jordan in Ladies' Home Journal.

ONLY BEER HIS FOOD.

FOR NINETEEN YEARS HE TOOK NO OTHER NOURISHMENT.

Remarkable Surgical Operation That Cured a Case of Arrested Development — The Ailment Puzzled Doctors and Was the Only Instance of the Kind Known.

One of the most remarkable cases in medical history, say physicians, is that of Joseph Beschlagengaul, a young German watchmaker living at 360 Sedgwick street, Chicago. It is asserted by some that his ailment is the only instance of its kind ever known.

For 19 years this young man was compelled to live on beer alone, and during that time his body experienced only as much growth as it should have had in four years. Two surgical operations have resulted in an almost complete cure, and Beschlagengaul is now on the high road to health. The remarkable effectiveness of the operations was shown in a phenomenal growth of 6 inches in two months and in a gain in weight of over 50 pounds.

A little over a year ago an emaciated boy was sent one day to the German hospital on the North Side and asked if something could not be done for him. The boy was chiefly skin and bones. He weighed 72½ pounds, was 4½ feet in height and appeared to the doctors to be about 11 years of age. They were astounded when the diminutive youth told them he was 26 years old. The interest of the physicians then increased materially, and Beschlagengaul was given an unusually careful examination. After a thorough investigation Dr. C. Fenger diagnosed the trouble as a contraction of the pyloric orifice, superinduced by a chronic inflammation of the stomach.

The surgeon, it is said, noticed an undulating motion on the surface of the abdomen, apparently indicating an effort of the stomach to force its contents through its lower opening, the pyloric orifice, and this confirmed him in the belief that his diagnosis was correct. An operation was decided upon. The boy was placed upon an operating table and put under the influence of an anæsthetic. Vivisection was then begun by Dr. Fenger, assisted by Dr. H. J. Haiselden and others.

An opening over a foot long was made in the front of the body. The stomach was opened, and it was found that the orifice, which should be almost as large as one's little finger, was scarcely big enough to permit the insertion of a match. No effort was made to enlarge the opening. Instead a hole was cut in the stomach near this point.

Then another hole was cut in a near loop of the intestine, and the edges of the two incisions were brought together and fastened by a metallic Murphy button, through the middle of which runs a tube. Thus an entirely new opening for the passage of food from the stomach was made.

The effect of this first operation was almost magical. The natural effort of the body to assimilate food and to grow, which had been retarded for almost two decades, exerted itself with marvelous force. For a period the appetite of the boy was ravenous. Day after day he ate like a starved animal. For several weeks he gained flesh at the rate of 2½ pounds a day. His growth in height was even more remarkable. In two months he measured 5 feet, an increase of half a foot over his stature when the operation was performed. His growth continued, but more slowly, until at present he is almost 5 feet 2 inches tall.

A reaction from the first effects set in after a few months, and the boy's weight, which had gone up from 72½ to 130 pounds, fell off until he weighed only 108 pounds. A second operation was determined upon and made. It was most beneficial, and the boy was soon almost as heavy as he had been formerly. The young man is now in the best of health and suffers only occasionally from pains in the locality of the metal button, which has not yet been removed.

A brief resume of the interesting features of the history of the case may best be given in the words of the young German.

"I am a watchmaker by profession and I can assure you I am badly in need of work these hard times," said Beschlagengaul. "I am a native of Bavaria, where I lived with my family until I was 21 years old. When I was 7 years of age, I was attacked by inflammation of the stomach and then my trouble began. Three years later I was kicked in the stomach by an ox and I remained unconscious for two whole days, but so far as I knew this had no effect on my stomach trouble. Of course it seems that this accident might have aggravated my trouble, but I detected no difference. Almost immediately after the inflammation began it became impossible for me to retain solid food in my stomach. No matter how simple or digestible the food, if it was solid the stomach at once rejected it. For 19 years, from the time I was 7 until I was 26 years of age, I practically lived on beer and nothing else.

"Of course in beer alone there is not much for a person to live on, so I was little more than skin and bones for years and years."—Chicago Times-Herald.

He Promotes Restaurants.

A shrewd New Yorker, who started his business career over 30 years ago as a purveyor of coffee and crullers in an all night booth at old Fulton market, is making a barrel of money, his friends say, as a promoter of restaurants.

This eating house speculator, after selecting a location, opens a spick and span new restaurant, with cheap prices, excellent service, first class cooking and top notch meats and bread, vegetables and pastry, coffee and biscuits. He soon builds up a fine trade. His patrons praise the place for one or more of its specialties, and then the promoter sells out at a handsome profit. Soon afterward the chef, the pastry cook, the man who bakes the delicious raised biscuit and the keen eyed, alert head waiter find one excuse or another for taking leave. They are not tired of working nor dissatisfied with the wages received. They have received notice from the promoter that he is ready to open another restaurant and that their experience and services are necessary to him in giving the new place the reputation that will draw full tables and enable the promoter to land another purchaser.

This speculator does not confine his efforts to New York. Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago and even Denver and San Francisco have seen the same crowd, and the patrons are wondering why the coffee, fish cakes, hashed brown potatoes and gooseberry tarts aren't so nice as when "this place was opened."—New York Sun.

Swiftness of Things.

Below will be found a list showing how far certain things, animate and inanimate, will travel in a second of time: The snail, one-half inch; a man walking, 4 feet; a fast runner, 23 feet; a fly, 24 feet; fast skater, 38 feet; ocean waves, 70 feet; a carrier pigeon, 87 feet; swallows, 220 feet; the worst cyclone known, 380 feet; the Krakatoa wave (at the volcanic catastrophe of Aug. 27, 1893, in the Sunda islands), 940 feet; sound in the air, 1,095 feet; the surface of the globe at sea level on the equator, 1,500 feet; the moon, 8,250 feet; the sun, 5½ miles; the earth, 18 miles; Holley's comet in the perihelion, 235 miles; electric current on telegraph wires, 7,000 miles; induction current, 11,040 miles; electric current in copper wire armatures, 21,000 miles; light 180,000 miles; discharge of a Leyden bottle through copper wire of one-sixteenth inch in diameter, 278,100 miles. This last is the greatest rapidity so far measured.

"WEYLER has been recalled," say the New York papers, but a glance at their news columns show that he continues to butcher and burn with characteristic ferocity.

MR. WELTY, the Canton man who wanted to be governor, does not think McLean will win. It is evident that the echoes of that Columbus convention have not yet died away.

THE number of orders which have come to the city within the last few weeks prompts the belief that crockery men throughout the country expect to do business before the end of the year.

NOT content with the immense profits made from the sugar trust Havemeyer has organized a glucose combination. It is possible for men to become too great, and the sugar magnate may soon reach that condition.

If the silverites who had so much to say last fall about the prosperity of Mexico will kindly keep an eye on our neighbor for a few weeks they will likely see something of advantage—to their political enemies.

ONE result of the coal strike is seen in the decreased earnings of railroads and their employees. Wellsville has already suffered in that a number of train crews have been deprived of work, and it will feel it more before the month is ended. The idleness of 100,000 men cannot but exert a wide influence.

IN selecting men for the legislature it should be borne in mind that the man who introduces the greatest number of bills is not always the best statesman. A glance through the past almost prompts the belief that he is among the worst. Quality and not quantity should be considered in laws as much as in law-makers.

THE Republican national committee does not have much to do these warm days, and will lend its aid to the party in Ohio, Maryland and Iowa, where senators are to be elected next fall and where the Democrats are determined to win if it is possible to do so. This plan means another nail in the coffin of John R. McLean's senatorial aspirations.

AN OBJECT LESSON.

Those statesmen who pretend they are unable to find danger in indiscriminate immigration can find a splendid object lesson in the coal miners' strike. Ten years ago, before the scum of southern Europe had invaded the coal mines of Pennsylvania and Ohio, the miner could command a good price for his work. When close competition began to decrease wages and there was danger of the intelligent workman resisting, his place was filled by the cheap men of Italy and Hungary. They would work for little because they lived in the meanest possible manner and only hoped to gather a few hundred dollars before returning to their native land. Gradually the displacement continued until today the proportion among the diggers is large. Had the laws prevented the temporary residence here of these people the average miner would not have been working at the starvation rate which compelled him to strike or seek some other occupation where none at that time was to be found. Keep out the men who never knew the benefit of good wages, and there will be less strikes and less disorder.

TRUSTEE LLOYD HURT.

An Accident Threw Him Out of a Buggy.

While Trustee Thomas Lloyd was returning from the infirmary Saturday afternoon the singletree of the buggy broke, and the vehicle went over an embankment. The buggy turned over, and Mr. Lloyd was caught under it. He believed his leg was broken, but when taken from under the wreck it was found he had sustained no serious injuries beyond a few bad bruises. He was brought to his home in Seventh street. It will be several days before he is able to leave his room.

On the River.

The affect of the recent rains is fast disappearing from the river, and the marks now show a stage of six feet. This is about the amount of water the packets like.

The usual Sunday boats Keystone State, Ben Hur and Kanawha passed up yesterday as did the J. C. Risher, Stella and John Moren.

The Virginia and Lorena went down Saturday evening and the Charlie Clarke yesterday. All the packets had heavy cargoes and large passenger lists.

Two Funerals.

The funeral of Cyrus Moon took place yesterday morning from his late home in Fourth street. A large number of friends, including the Rechabites, were present. The remains were taken to Clarkson, where they were interred in the cemetery at that place.

The funeral of Mrs. Michael Murray, of Industry, took place this morning from St. Aloysius church. It was largely attended.

Collided With a Dog.

Jay Fisher, of East End, while riding his wheel near Clarkson yesterday, ran into a small dog breaking the front wheel of the bicycle and throwing the rider to the ground. The village blacksmith was hunted up and the wheel was soon repaired.

The City Made a Ten.

There were a number of fakirs in the city Saturday and they were selling anything from a toy to a necktie. All of them seemed to do a good business. The fees the mayor took in Saturday from this source amounted to nearly $10.

Got a Contract.

The Eagle Hardware company will furnish the copper tiling, copper roofing, copper figure of victory and the steel roof trusses of the memorial building now being erected in Riverview cemetery.

A New Orchestra.

Tony Greago and his Italian orchestra have arrived in the city, and will finish the season at Rock Spring. The boys of the Columbian club have issued an invitation for a dance next Thursday evening.

New Additions.

Since Saturday the population of East Liverpool has been increased by two families. G. W. Null, of Steubenville, and D. N. Mockinore, of Cleveland, have moved, their families to this place.

A Dangerous Case.

A three-year-old child of Charles Milton, Calcutta road, is very ill with membranous croup. Sanitary Officer Burgess quarantined the house this morning.

Coming Home.

Dr. Charles B. Ogden and children are expected to return from Mt. Ayre, Iowa, not later than next Tuesday evening. They have been gone almost two months.

Taken to Bayard.

There were two extra coaches attached to the early Cleveland train this morning. They were taken to Bayard where they will be used on the branch.

At Rock Point.

A number of young people from the city are today attending a picnic given by the Steubenville Mission U. P. Sunday school at Rock Point.

Going to New York.

Miss Bessie Ashbaugh will leave this week for New York where she will begin the rehearsal of the part she will take in the "Circus Girl."

WALKED IN A SALOON

Officer Jennings Surprised John McFadden.

HE WAS DRAWING BEER

When the Policeman Stepped Into His Franklin Street Saloon and Informed Him That It Was Sunday Afternoon and Against the Law to Sell Beer.

Officer Jennings walked into a saloon, yesterday afternoon, and John McFadden was informed that he must not sell beer on Sunday.

The officer was going down the Franklin street hill when he heard a noise in McFadden's saloon. He walked to the back door, and found that McFadden had his hand on the faucet and was in the act of drawing beer. He informed the saloonkeeper that it was Sunday afternoon between 4 and 5 o'clock, and he would be expected to appear before the mayor this morning and explain just why he broke the law. McFadden protested that the beer was for some people who were upstairs, but the officer was firm.

A man who was in the saloon was also ordered to appear. This is the first arrest under the new ordinance.

SENATOR QUAY NOT ALARMED.

In Spite of Hastings' Candidacy He Will Go on a Long Trip.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 2.—The announcement that Governor Hastings proposes to come out as a candidate for United States senator to succeed Senator Quay does not seem to disturb the senator, who arrived here today from Atlantic City. The news was told Senator Quay by a political friend from Western Pennsylvania, who gave as his authority some Bellefonte friends of the governor. Senator Quay said: "I know nothing about it except what was told me."

Continuing, he said he did not feel any alarm about it; and then he began to speak of his trip abroad. He said he would remain here a day or two. He then will go to Sewickley, Pa., and spend about two weeks with his son Dick. "From there," he said, "I will go to St. Lucie, Florida, and if nothing unforeseen happens I will go to San Francisco about the latter part of September and sail for Hawaii."

From this place the senator announced his intention of going through the Samoan Islands and the Solomon group, after which the journey will be continued to Australia. From that point the return home will be made, and the senator will arrive back about April or May of next year.

Succeeds Colonel Grant.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—Mayor Strong has announced the appointment of Colonel George Moore Smith of the Sixty-ninth regiment to succeed Colonel F. D. Grant as police commissioner. The new commissioner will be sworn in today.

Pantsmakers on a Strike.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—The general strike of the Pantsmakers' union, a branch of the Socialist Trade alliance, has gone into effect in the 250 shops in the Greater New York district. Eight thousand people are affected.

HE'S NOT THE MAN

Mrs. Howard Warren's Positive Assertion

WHEN SHE LOOKED AT BAKER

Whom the Officers Believed Answered the Description of Her Assailant—His Clothes Did Not Exactly Agree With Those of the Fend Who Committed the Crime, Nor Was His the Face Which Peered Into the Chicken Coop Last Friday Morning.

The brute who assaulted Mrs. Ella Warren at her home on Holbert's run, last Friday morning, seems to be something more than an ordinary criminal. He has covered up his tracks so well that no trace of him can be found, although one man was suspected and taken before the injured woman, who declared his was not the face which peered into the chicken coop at her when the question as to the whereabouts of her husband was asked.

There was nothing to guide Sheriff Billy Mason and his deputies until they heard Mrs. Warren give a description of the man. Even then they said nothing to each other, but when on Saturday afternoon it began to be noised about Cumberland that the assailant was a resident of that place and well known to all of them they could no longer deny the impression. They knew that the description was like the appearance of Dan Baker.

Baker is an oil well pumper, who is employed by the Albany Oil company to look after its wells in the Turkeyfoot field. With his wife and two children, he moved to Cumberland last fall, and each morning walked the five miles which separate his plainly-furnished home from the ridge into which the wells were drilled. No one denied that at times he was not as good as it was possible for him to be, but those who heard the rumor could not be brought to believe that he would commit the crime. Sheriff Wilkins did not believe it, but the description tallied with Baker's appearance and his duty was plain. A warrant was issued by Squire Bradley, and the officer sought the suspect.

Baker had gone to Toronto early in the afternoon for the purpose of seeing Cumberland win a warm game of ball, and did not return until late. His house in the lower part of town was watched, and he had not been long seated comfortably in the parlor when Sheriff Wilkins knocked on the door. Baker opened it, but his cordial words of greeting were cut short by the sheriff who told him the nature of the visit.

Baker was not surprised, and said he had heard something of the rumor, but had given it no attention. His wife said that she, too, had been notified, while her husband protested his innocence.

"I'll face her, Sheriff," he said, "and if I'm the man I ought to be strung up."

The sheriff suggested that he don the clothes he wore last Friday, and Baker hastened to comply with the request for it was the intention to drive at once to Holbert's run and have the matter ended. A wagonette was brought and all was in readiness when it was decided to call Squire Bradley and have him accompany the party. The squire advised against the movement, holding that it would be unjust to all parties, and the trip was deferred until morning. It was agreed that Constable Bartley Campbell, who by the way is the man who arrested Van Baker, the murderer, should remain with Baker through the night. Baker promised that he would be there when the party came for him, and the sheriff went home.

Sheriff Wilkins wanted to leave town before the people were astir, and the sun had not yet forced its way through the heavy banks of cold, gray fog when the wagonette stopped in front of Baker's home. Constable Campbell said they had spent a quiet night, and the men certainly looked it.

Sergeant John Crissinger and Officer McElcannon occupied the front seat, Campbell and Baker the next, while Sheriff Wilkins and Squire Bradley, who is also an undertaker, was in the third. It was a jolly party, and few would have imagined that at least one of them was about to face a charge the penalty of which is death.

The drive up Holbert's run consumed more than an hour, and ended when the heavy team drew up at a gate far up in the hills. It was the entrance to a private road leading to the farms above, a wild section where the hills rise to more than ordinary height, and the successful cultivation of land is only attained by long experience.

Squire Bradley led the way to prepare Mrs. Warren and her husband, and in five minutes the remainder of the party followed. The house is built of clapboards along the hillside and a more lonely spot it would be hard to find. It is not a home of luxury, and one would scarcely look there expecting to find comforts. A plain railing fence surrounds the yard, in one corner of which is the combined chicken coop and pigpen where Mrs. Warren was assaulted. Here, with her head against the building, Mrs. Warren recovered consciousness after being dragged over the boards, nailed to half the height of the low doorway. She staggered from there to the house, where she was found by her husband several hours after the assault.

When the party had inspected the surroundings the squire returned, and said all was in readiness. Crissinger entered the room closely followed by Baker and McElcannon. In a rocking chair, pale and weak from suffering and still bearing upon her face the cuts and bruises made by the brute, sat Mrs. Warren. She looked with interest upon the men, all of them big fellows with blue eyes, while they filled a row of chairs directly opposite, the light falling on their faces. At the door stood Sheriff Wilkins and the constable while on the bed nearby sat the husband, an intelligent looking young man whose face plainly showed the anxiety he felt. Mrs. Warren looked intently at the men, and for a minute not a sound could be heard.

"No, no, no," she feebly broke out, "the man who insulted me is not there. Not one of those men did it. He was about as big, but his mustache was lighter."

"Dan put on your hat," said her husband.

"No he's not the man. His shirt is not striped."

Everybody heaved a sigh of relief, but Baker gave no particular sign that he was pleased, he had been so confident from the first of his ability to establish his innocence. He received the congratulations of the men who had before been his guards with a hearty hand shake and a fervent "Thank you," and then walked out of the room, the happiest man in Hancock county.

Mrs. Warren explained to Squire Bradley and Sheriff Wilkin why she knew Baker was innocent, repeating the description of her assailant and adding that she depended in a measure on his eyes for identification. They were large and staring, like a negro's, she said, but there was no question the man was white. He wore a stiff brim straw hat, and a striped shirt, and was a big man. She was sure Baker was not the man. The officials questioned her closely, but her answers were all to the same end—the man was about his build, but she was confident he was innocent. They then asked many questions, evidently having some other party in mind, and Mrs. Warren answered them to their entire satisfaction.

A number of neighbors, in the main relatives, had been attracted to the house, but there was no sign of a demonstration. They were sympathetic and kind, anxious and willing to do what they could. Mrs. Warren had spent a very good night, and was much better although she still showed signs of brutal treatment. When found the blue marks made by the brute's fingers were plainly seen on her throat, and her clothing was torn. It is being carefully preserved and will be used in evidence if the assailant is ever captured.

The party returned to Cumberland without further delay, Baker explaining that he could easily have proved an alibi had Mrs. Warren made a mistake for he had spent Friday attending to his usual duties and had been seen during the morning by a number of people. His wife and a neighbor's child had been in that vicinity picking

TRENTON'S NEW TIME

NOTHING IS KNOWN IN THIS CITY

Regarding the Mass Meeting Held Last Night—Operatives and Manufacturers Will Meet at Atlantic City This Week to Decide—No Serious Differences.

A press dispatch from Trenton caused a great deal of discussion in the city this morning because it was not known that a movement of that sort was on foot. The special says:

"The Operative Potters' National Union of America met last night in Co-operation hall to discuss the proposed advance in wages. The result of the session was that the Potters' National Union concurred in the resolution adopted in East Liverpool in all particulars except in the time to be allowed before the 12½ per cent increase in pay shall begin. They decided to ask the increase within 60 days. The Liverpool resolutions asked it in 30."

"I didn't know they were to have a meeting," said President A. S. Hughes, of the Brotherhood, when shown the dispatch this morning, "but I presume it was a mass meeting called by the officers of the association. What they did will have no influence on us. We will leave here next Thursday, for Atlantic City, where we will meet the manufacturing potters and endeavor to establish a uniform scale. The manufacturers have conceded that the old rate should be established. One would imagine that the importer's stocks are large but I don't think so and the statements of the treasury bear me out. The value of crockery importations for the 11 months ending June 1, 1896, was $9,799,615, while for the same time in last year it was $8,735,604, a difference of $1,064,047. The Trenton potters who were at the Cresson meeting will have representatives at Atlantic City."

MONTH FOR MARRIAGES.

December Was Last Year Far Ahead of Its Rivals.

LISBON, August 2.—[Special]—Judge Boone completed his report for the year today, and he will send it to the secretary of state at once.

During the year ending March 31, 547 marriage licenses were issued. The banner month was December when the number was 70, March coming next with 54. Eight couples were married by bans. Two were colored.

Forty-three residents of the county were admitted to Newburg asylum, 32 being males. Five were sent to the Gallipolis hospital, three being males. Four boys were sent to the Lancaster home, and one given to the school at Delaware. The number of foreigners made citizens was 142, divided as follows: Great Britain 62, Germany 23, Austria 13. Letters of guardianship were issued to 45 persons, 31 for children and three for insane persons. One hundred and fifty-two estates were passed upon, letters of administration being issued in 94 cases.

The commissioners have been investigating the damage to county property by the recent high water, and find that no less than 15 bridges were washed away. They can only be replaced at an expenditure of several thousand dollars. They are now receiving bids.

THE QUEER IS FLOATING

Many Counterfeit Nickles and Dimes In Circulation.

FOUND IN CHURCH COLLECTIONS

The Street Railway Company Has Been a
Victim—All the Coin Poorly Made, Very Light and Discolored—Someone Is Making Money.

There is someone in this particular
part of the county who is getting rich, making money without the sanction of
his Uncle Sam.

The stuff began to appear in circulation some time ago and the amount is steadily increasing. The banks have found it in church collections, and the street railway companies have been called upon to bear a portion of the burden. As a rule the queer is a nickle
or ten cent piece, the latter being easily detected because it is poorly made and badly discolored. It is greasy to the touch, and to the expert is by no means dangerous. The nickle is always a hard coin for the man in search of bogus
money, but in this instance it is not hard to tell the bad stuff. A goodly quantity of it was floated last Saturday,
the Liverpool Street railway taking in a number of pieces.

It is believed that the stuff is manufactured in this vicinity, and that it has been going on for some time. There have been counterfeits of several higher denominations in circulation in quantity,
but this is the first time for years that so many bad nickles and dimes have
been seen.

LOST A BILL.

It Was Old and Valued Highly by Its Owner.

Mrs. A. H. Clark has notified the police to keep a close lookout for a $20 bill, which she believes was stolen from her residence, Sixth street. The money was last seen in an old pocketbook a week
ago. It was marked by a perfume, and could easily be detected. The bill is an old one, and has a history. The police notified business men of the city, and they are looking for it.

That Salary Ordinance.

Sometime ago an ordinance was introduced in council to place the city engineer on a salary and authorize the employment of an assistant. The ordinance reached its third reading and was then laid over. Since that time it has not been seen or heard of, and there is much speculation on the part of many citizens who are interested as to what has become of it.

Kept Them Moving.

The streets were thronged with people
last Saturday evening, but the police experienced no difficulty in keeping the crowds moving. One corner is marked almost every night by a crowd, and the officers have determined to stop it even though it is necessary to make arrests.

Fought It Out.

Two summer cars were standing on the Second street switch Saturday afternoon when a resident of Wellsville and an East End man began to fight. The battle had lasted long enough for one to receive a black eye when the cars started
and they separated.

The Grand Army Meeting.

The meeting of the Grand Army to be held next Friday evening is the regular meeting of the post, and not an open session as was announced. Only those old soldiers who are notified by Adjutant Beardmore are expected to at-

A Big Meeting.

The men's meeting at the Young Men's Christian association yesterday was the largest of the season. Men to the number of 58 were present. It is the intention of Secretary Stewart to make these meetings a special feature.

No Ticks For Two Weeks.

Harry Brooks, night operator at the telegraph office, returned from Pittsburg Saturday afternoon and left for Cleveland on the midnight train. During his vacation he will make a tour of the lakes.

Drove to Town.

A party of 16 young people from Calcutta and vicinity drove to town Saturday night, and after going over the city went home. They made an abundance of noise, and seemed to be enjoying the occasion.

The Chief Is Better.

Chief Johnson was able to be out today for the first time in 10 days. He suffered an operation last Thursday.

Legal Protection Needed For Wives.

The following is taken from the annual report of the Associated Charities of Orange, N. J. It shows indeed a need, says the Woman's Journal:

An oft recurring set of conditions with which the society is brought in contact is that in which an industrious, capable wife supports a family and a ne'er do well husband. The wife is always long suffering, and there are many instances of genuine heroism.
After dealing with case after case of this kind the conclusion is forced that,
in spite of the example of patience and self sacrifice of the wife her submission works a positive harm socially. The need undoubtedly is for the introduction of a stronger social force, through the arm of the law, acting independently of the wife, whereby the husband may be compelled to support his family or go to jail.

The law at present is operative only through the initiative of the wife—that is, the wife must make complaint to the overseer of the poor and must testify in court. This practically nullifies the law, for, in nine cases out of ten, circumstances make it almost certain that the wife either will not complain or will withdraw the complaint when once she has made it. She has learned the lesson of submission from long experience. She has a well grounded fear of the violence to herself at the hands of her husband that will follow if she persists in prosecuting the case.

Miss Marietta Holly.

Despite the popular fallacy that women are wanting in humor, one of the best paid laugh makers in the United States is Josiah Allen's Wife (Miss Marietta Holly), whose writings within the past few years have earned for her $60,000. More copies of "Samantha at Saratoga" have been sold than of any single work of Mark Twain's. Almost a quarter of a century has passed since
"My Opinions and Betsy Bobbit's" evoked the mirth of the American public and founded the literary fortune of its famous author, Miss Marietta Holly.
Woman's rights were not popular in the early seventies. Nevertheless Josiah Allen's Wife put her shoulder to the wheel, the great "Publick Wheel a-rollin on slowly, drawin the Femal Race into Liberty." In the homely humor, the caustic wit and rare common sense of Samantha and the vine clinging rhapsodies of Betsy Bobbit, who is not without a counterpart in the fin de sie-cle autos, told in the north country dialect, Marietta Holly, to quote Frances Willard, has done more for the enfranchisement of woman than platform agitators.—New York Sun.

Trimmed Skirts.

Many of the styles of trimming used on summer skirts and bodices, says a New York writer, are not at all admirable. They are extremely fussy without being effective. The great amount of time and work expended upon flimsy little endless rows of plaited, hemstitched and lace edged ruffles and frills seem wholly out of proportion to the result produced. Dresses of this sort are no doubt very fashionable, but they are also very expensive, the chiffon, silk malin, tulle and other diaphanous textiles used not being calculated to withstand even ordinary wear and tear.
More economical and quite as pretty,
even for dressy uses, are gowns of india
mull, French organdie, batiste and china crape, and even sheer dotted swiss muslin is this summer made into lace trimmed toilets fit for all but very formal dress occasions.

Freshening a Waist.

A pretty way to freshen a white chiffon or organdie waist, says a fashion authority, is to cut away the entire portion that covers the upper part of the bodice and shoulders, stitching the raw edges thus made to secure them, then adding a new yoke top, either of lace and insertion, all lace, tucked india muslin, net or shirrings of organdie alternating with rows of ribbon. Another effective method is to add from the shoulder seams long surplice scarf ends laid in soft folds. Bring these in diminuendo plaits to the waist, knot lightly, then let the sashes fall un-draped well over the skirt front. Add wholly new sleeves that match in material and arrangement the style of the fresh accessories put upon the waist.

A Novelty Cape.

A novelty cape is of black plaited net.
It is doubled before plaiting. The folded edge is finished with a two inch edging put on smoothly. There are half a dozen bands of ribbon, one above the other.
These ribbons are of graduated widths.
The ribbon lace and material are all plaited, and this made up frill is attached to a yoke of the richest embroidery. The collar is of frilling of the same sort, only narrower, and ribbon loops trim the front, while clusters of loops fall from the collar over the cape at intervals of about two inches all around.—New York Ledger.

Why He Wanted an Autograph.

Recently a young man wrote to William Dean Howells for his autograph.
The novelist replied in a typewritten line:

"Have you bought my last book?"

The young man answered:

"I have not. I want to sell your autograph in order to get money enough to buy it."—Atlanta Constitution.

AS CHINA MAY SEE US

AS ENGLAND AND EUROPE PROBABLY DO SEE US.

Our Deplorable Devotion to Truth and Neglect of Form—In Course of Time We May Attain Diplomatic Politeness and a Disregard of Facts.

The western world has long since resigned itself to the knowledge that whatever other races may discover or invent they but follow in the footsteps of China, where gunpowder exploded and the mariner's compass was in use while the ancestors of peoples now civilized—though not, of course, up to the Chinese standard—were fighting with clubs and navigating only along shore.
In music, too, the west is in comparative infancy. We have emerged by slow and painful steps from melody into harmony whereas the Chinese centuries ago arrived at pure discord. In nothing is China more obviously superior to the west than in the practice of politeness and reverence for the forms of the same.
Europe has only reached the stage of holding manner to be more important than matter—to the perception that a lie decorously told is superior to truth expressed without finish. We see, for example, the press of England and the continent startled and scandalized because the secretary of state of the youngest of the great powers, in writing about some beasts that swim in the sea and the treatment of them by Great Britain, took it for granted, like a barbarian, that a fact is of higher moment than a phrase. The thing written about has been quite forgotten while Europe's refined attention is given to the secretary's defective literary style.

China cannot but bend a benevolent and encouraging gaze upon a pupil that is doing so well. Such advancement along the road that leads away from the savagery of truth worship to the civilization of form worship appeals irresistibly to the approving Mongolian mind.
Yet China must smile, with the kindly indulgence of age, at the tottering though brave footsteps of the ambitiously imitative infant. Europe's profound respect for politeness is deserving of gentle Chinese applause, but Europe's incapacity to provide a suitable penalty for the secretary's rudeness would be ludicrous were it not saddening. The offender is actually to be let off with a chorus of lectures. In China, now, im-politeness is dealt with as it deserves.
A Celestial Sherman, one Prince Tsai, on the birthday of the empress dowager neglected to present himself and offer the customary congratulations; also he overlooked the duty of doing the courteous thing by his ancestors in the way of worship. Has Prince Tsai been left to a horrified press and his own conscience
after the nerveless European fashion?
Hardly. A decree has been officially promulgated that will remove forever from the Chinese Sherman any disposition to be remiss in his manners. His title is to be taken away, and he is to be publicly whipped on the bare back with bamboos until he screams for mercy, upon which manifestation of contrition he will be shut up in a cell on a low diet during the imperial pleasure.

To Europe we primitive denizens of a new continent appear as mere hairy troglodytes, hunting the mastodon and cave bear for food and recreating ourselves by hurling spears and insults—a horde of Shermans, in short. To China, in turn, Europe, polished as it deems itself, doubtless presents the aspect of a painted and well meaning savage, struggling upward toward the Chinese model, and therefore entitled to stimulating praise and the guiding hand of polite charity. For us, heaven help us, there is neither praise nor guidance nor charity offering anywhere as we sit in our caverns gnawing the bones of our prey and glaring with glittering eyes through our matted Sherman bangs at shuddering mankind.—New York Journal.

A Reunion of Slaves In Michigan.

The twelfth annual reunion of the colored people of Michigan, Indiana and Ohio was held at Calvin, Cass county, Mich., and lasted for one week. This is the only distinct negro settlement in Michigan and was founded by runaway slaves and slaves freed by Henry Clay.
Survivors of slavery days camped in Allen's grove, where a desperate battle was waged between the slaves and their pursuers.

Marriage Performed In Prison.

Franz Tiederman, a fireman on the American liner Paris, and Sadie Sadler were married in the prisoners' pen in the Hoboken (N. J.) court the other day by Acting Recorder McCulloch.

The couple had a fight the night before, and both were locked up. During the night they were confined in adjoining cells and made up their quarrel and agreed to get married.

In Sonoma county, Cal., there are a sign painter, one an undertaker, and another a member of the board of education in Petaluma.

THE QUEER IS FLOATING

Many Counterfeit Nickles and Dimes In Circulation.

FOUND IN CHURCH COLLECTIONS

The Street Railway Company Has Been a
Victim—All the Coin Poorly Made, Very
Light and Discolored—Someone Is Making Money.

There is someone in this particular
part of the county who is getting rich,
making money without the sanction of
his Uncle Sam.

The stuff began to appear in circulation some time ago and the amount is steadily increasing. The banks have found it in church collections, and the
street railway companies have been called upon to bear a portion of the burden. As a rule the queer is a nickle
or ten cent piece, the latter being easily detected because it is poorly made and badly discolored. It is greasy to the touch, and to the expert is by no means dangerous. The nickle is always a hard
coin for the man in search of bogus
money, but in this instance it is not hard to tell the bad stuff. A goodly
quantity of it was floated last Saturday,
the Liverpool Street railway taking in a number of pieces.

It is believed that the stuff is manufactured in this vicinity, and that it has been going on for some time. There have been counterfeits of several higher demoninations in circulation in quantity,
but this is the first time for years that
so many bad nickles and dimes have
been seen.

LOST A BILL.

It Was Old and Valued Highly by Its Owner.

Mrs. A. H. Clark has notified the police to keep a close lookout for a $20 bill,
which she believes was stolen from her residence, Sixth street. The money was last seen in an old pocketbook a week
ago. It was marked by a perfume, and could easily be detected. The bill is an old one, and has a history. The police notified business men of the city, and
they are looking for it.

That Salary Ordinance.

Sometime ago an ordinance was introduced in council to place the city engineer on a salary and authorize the employment of an assistant. The ordinance reached its third reading and was then laid over. Since that time it has not been seen or heard of, and there is
much speculation on the part of many citizens who are interested as to what
has become of it.

Kept Them Moving.

The streets were thronged with people
last Saturday evening, but the police experienced no difficulty in keeping the crowds moving. One corner is marked
almost every night by a crowd, and the officers have determined to stop it even though it is necessary to make arrests.

Fought It Out.

Two summer cars were standing on the Second street switch Saturday afternoon when a resident of Wellsville and
an East End man began to fight. The battle had lasted long enough for one to receive a black eye when the cars started
and they separated.

The Grand Army Meeting.

The meeting of the Grand Army to
be held next Friday evening is the

DECLINED THE OFFER

The Specialty Will Not Go to Martin's Ferry.

COMPANY WANTED TO COMBINE

But the Local Concern Decided Not to Have It That Way—The Matter Was Under Advisement Some Time, but Was Abandoned as Not Being Practical.

The Specialty Glass company is still considering the advisability of leaving East Liverpool, but there is no reason to believe that the plant will be located in Martin's Ferry. The New York Crockery Journal of Saturday said:

"Negotiations are pending between the Specialty Glass company, of East Liverpool, and the stockholders of the West Virginia glass works, Martin's Ferry, for the removal of the former's stock and business to Martin's Ferry. The owners of the West Virginia offer to put in the plant at $25,000 and take it in their stock at a fair appraisal and run the business. The deal is said to be merely waiting ratification."

Inquiry at the Specialty developed that the proposition was made sometime ago by the West Virginia people, but after it was considered the local company decided not to accept it. The company has reached a final decision.

CAUGHT A SLICK OPERATOR.

The Postoffice Authorities Think They Have Him.

Some time ago business men in this city were notified not to cash money orders drawn on the office of Belmore, O. The office had been robbed a short time before, and the thief had taken with him a bunch of blank money orders. These he filled out to suit himself, forged them very well, and passed them after the postoffice in the town, where he happened at that time to be, was closed. The man was caught in Fort Wayne.

DAUGHTERS OF AMERICA

Are Meeting In Annual Session at Columbus.

The annual session of the Daughters of America, lasting four days, will commence tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock in Columbus. The meeting will be opened by an address by Governor Bushnell. Those who went from this city are J. Anderson, national representative, and Mrs. L. B. Lowery, assistant state councillor. At Dennison the party will meet Miss Julia Tipton, state secretary. Mrs. Rachael Grafton, of Wellsville, state treasurer of the organization, is also in the party.

Out at Spring Grove.

A small garter snake was killed near the pump, yesterday afternoon, by N. T. Ashbaugh.

Sunday school was held, yesterday afternoon, in the tabernacle.

The regular campmeeting services will commence Thursday.

Mrs. Shannon, of Buffalo, and Mrs. Bolton, of Jackson street, have taken up their residence at the dormitory.

William Cartwright and family today moved to the grounds.

Not a Pleasant Prospect.

A short time ago a married man from this city made his appearance in Hookstown accompanied by a woman who was not his wife, and rented a house. The residents of the village did not discover the deception until a few days ago, and now threaten to tar and feather the couple.

HELEN GOULD'S GIFT.

Gives $5,000 to Chautauqua Memorial Temple.

Miss Helen M. Gould, who recently was spending several days at Chautauqua, made a donation of $5,000 to the proposed memorial temple, the Hall of the Christ, about to be erected there. This building has been one of Chancellor Vincent's most cherished dreams for the past three years, and in a quiet way he has been raising funds by voluntary subscription for its erection. Last year on Recognition day, Aug. 18, the building site was consecrated with most impressive ceremonies, participated in by bishops, doctors of divinity and distinguished men of letters. The plot of ground set aside for the edifice embraces Academy park, the most central and choicest location on the grounds. The design and purpose of the building are unique. It is to be a memorial hall, dedicated to the life and works of the Christ. The plans submitted by Paul J. Pelse, the architect who designed the Congressional library in Washington, are now in the hands of the Chautauqua trustees.

The first donation to the Hall of the Christ was the sum of $10,000 from the late Hart A. Massey, the well known wealthy manufacturer of Toronto, and brother-in-law of Chancellor Vincent. This was three years ago, and since then the fund has been steadily growing by contributions ranging from $1 up. Miss Lillian Massey supplemented the gift of her father by sending a check for $1,000 on her wedding day as a gift to the proposed hall. The fund has now reached $25,000, a sufficient sum to warrant the beginning of the work.—New York Sun.

THE GAME HE PLAYED.

How a Swindler Secured a Bicycle in Washington.

A well dressed young man called at the Raleigh hotel, Washington, the other morning and registered "W. C. Howell and wife, Atlanta, Ga." After telling the clerk his wife would arrive later the young man left the hotel. Shortly afterward a man giving the name mentioned and saying he was stopping at the Raleigh called at the bicycle establishment of Burr & Jones and ordered a tandem sent to the hotel for use. He was particular that the wheel should be a good one, and a wheel in first class condition was sent.

Later in the day the bicycle firm received a letter saying that the man who had rented the wheel had met with a serious accident and had been picked up in an unconscious condition. In the letter the dealers were assured that, although the wheel had been wrecked, the damages would be paid and that the machine could be found at the address given.

But the writer had failed to mention the address. When this letter was received, the police were notified, and Detective Boardman went in search of the man and wheel. He failed to find the former, but learned that a tandem answering the description of the missing one had been shipped to Philadelphia.

A BLOW RESTORED HIM.

A Deaf Mute Regains Speech and Hearing While Sparring.

In a friendly boxing bout at Van Meter, Ia., recently Sam Pyers dealt Tom Brassfield, a deaf mute, so violent a blow under the ear that the latter instantly recovered his hearing and the power of speech.

Brassfield was formerly a resident of Sioux City. Last November he undertook to ride a bucking horse. The animal jarred the rider so seriously that when he dismounted he first bled freely from his nose, mouth and ears and then lost both speech and hearing. Though he suffered considerably from pains in the head, he was in tolerably good health, and on the occasion referred to put on the gloves with Pyers for a little exercise.

Presently Pyers' arm shot out, and Brassfield went to the grass. When he sat up, blood was streaming from his mouth and nose. Pyers was much alarmed and ran for assistance. On his return Brassfield was able to speak for the first time since last November. He hears well, and no signs are shown of a return of his infirmity.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Milton.

Milton was born in 1608 and died in 1674. His first poem of note, "On the Morning of Christ's Nativity," was written in 1629. The "Paradise Regained" was finished a short time before his death. His literary labors covered 45 years. His greatest poem was written by the hand of an amanuensis, and his most serious annoyance was the petulance of his daughters, who sometimes refused to write when he was in the mood to compose.

Sir Christopher Wren, the architect of St. Paul's cathedral, London, was buried in that majestic pile, and the visitor is enlightened by his epitaph, thus, "Si monumentum quaeris, circumspice" (If you ask for his monument, look round).

Three good washes are received by an Abyssinian during his career—at his birth, on his marriage morn and at his death. At all other times he shuns soap and water.

WANTED BOAT PLANS.

AN ATTEMPT TO STEAL DESIGNS OF THE HOLLAND SUBMARINE BOAT.

Supposed to Have Been Made by Agents of Foreign Governments—The Cuban Junta Has Attempted to Get an Option on the Craft.

A bold attempt was recently made to steal the plans of the Holland submarine boat launched a few weeks previously from Nixon's shipyard at Elizabethport, N. J.

About the middle of March a man who had got employment at the yards was found inside the boat at the noon hour making sketches. He was dismissed at once, and orders were given to let only the most trusted men approach the craft. The purpose of this man was never explained, and the belief exists that he was the agent of a foreign government.

The last attempt was planned with the utmost care. All the plans used in the shipyard are kept in a safe especially constructed for their protection. It is a steel structure ten feet square and of the same height.

In addition to these safeguards watchmen are kept on duty about the safe day and night, and a combination lock lends additional security.

The draftsman had carried a batch of plans down stairs and had put them in the safe. By chance this batch did not include the designs for the Holland submarine boat. When he returned to the drawing room to get these plans, he left the door of the safe open. On his return he discovered that some one had been there and had made away with the tin box containing $250 in cash, together with a bundle of valuable papers.

A short time subsequently the company received through the mails an envelope containing the papers which had been stolen. Not being the plans of the submarine boat, the thief had considered enough to return them.

Captain John Soley, superintendent of the yard, was so gratified that the plans were safe that he did not consider the loss worth reporting to the police. When seen about the matter, he said:

"It is true we will not allow an outsider, it matters not who he may be, to go inside of the Holland boat or to get a look at the working plans. One of the first requisites for a man to get work in this yard is that he keep silent about the work going on. Any violation of this rule is punished with dismissal."

"The representatives of several foreign governments have been here to inquire about and to examine the Holland boat. I have allowed them to look at the exterior, but not the interior. The value of the secret of its construction is hard to estimate. Its perfect success has not yet been demonstrated, but if it is successful it will be of immense value to the government which owns it."

"The secret agents of a foreign government, if they sought to gain possession of such valuable plans, would stop in New York and would be seen in Elizabethport as little as possible. They are too crafty to be caught loafing about the entrance of a shipyard."

It has been stated over and over that the Holland submarine boat would go in commission under the flag of the Cuban republic. All that is awaited, say dispatches from Washington, is the recognition of the belligerent rights of the Cuban insurgents by the administration. High officials at the navy department have admitted that the new submarine destroyer has been built for this purpose.

The United States government has not authorized the construction of the vessel, nor has any other nation done so. The work has been rushed. Mr. Nixon says he does not know where the vessel is to go, or what flag she is to fly, and the officers of the Holland Submarine Boat company in this city declare they have nothing to say about her except that she will be sent to Washington to be exhibited to members of congress and to the naval authorities.

It has been stated that the agents of Spain had their eyes on the boat and might buy her to prevent her falling into the hands of the Cubans.

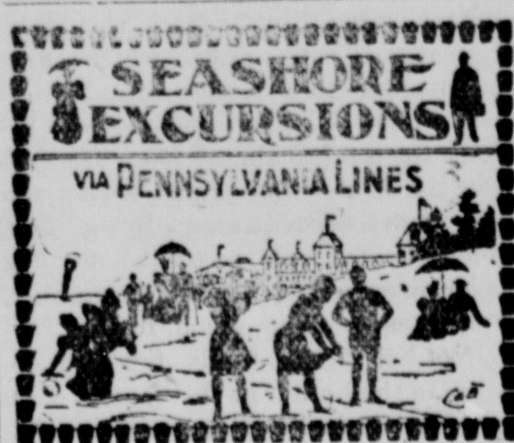

Representatives of the Cuban junta in New York have made efforts to get an option on the boat. If they should get the prize, the navy of the United States could not prevent her stealing out of New York harbor.

The suspicion that some naval attaché of a foreign legation may have instigated the attempt is based on the fact that these officers are sent for the special purpose of getting secret plans of vessels, fortifications and military operations. Their governments encourage them in obtaining such information by any means and pay the bills they incur without question or scrutiny. They are military spies in time of peace.

They openly declare there is nothing worth possessing of which they have not full knowledge. A few months since Captain Carlos de la Casa, the Spanish military attaché, was complaining that his rooms in New York had been robbed, and it was brought out that he was in New York for the purpose of securing, if possible, the detailed plans of New York's harbor defenses.

These military and naval attachés live apart from the legations and are inconspicuous in the diplomatic social life. They keep their movements cloaked with secrecy. It is not discoverable that any of them has been near New York recently, though it is known all of them made strenuous efforts to see the launching of the Holland boat. The theory of the departmental officials is that the robbery was committed by some attaché of the yard in the hope of getting a reward.—New York Journal.

Low Rates For Vacation Trips and Outings Along the Ocean.

Round Trip From Steubenville Only $10.

General excursions to the seashore at exceptionally low rates will be inaugurated by the Pennsylvania lines this summer, offering a grand opportunity for delightful outings at the most popular ocean resorts on the continent. This announcement will be good news to persons who may desire to enjoy their vacations at the seaside. They may visit Atlantic City, Cape May, Avalon, Sea Isle City, Anglesea, Ocean City, Holly Beach or wildwood, at very low fare, round trip tickets to either resort being obtainable at the same rate.

The first excursion will be run Thursday, July 15, followed by others on July 5th, August 12 and 21. Round trip rates to either Atlantic City, Cape May, Avalon, Sea Island City, Anglesea, Ocean City, Wildwood or Holly Beach, New Jersey, will be $10 from Steubenville.

Excursion tickets will be good going on trains leaving Steubenville 4:24 a. m., 1:09 p. m., 2:15 p. m., and 4:08 p. m. The 4:45 a. m. train connects in Pittsburgh Union Station with a special train of parlor cars and coaches running through to Atlantic City via Delaware bridge route, arriving at Philadelphia at 6:25 p. m., Atlantic City, 8:55 p. m., making the run from Pittsburgh to the seashore in 12 hours. Excursionists may spend the night in Philadelphia and proceed to the shore by any regular train the following day. The 4:08 p. m. train has sleeping cars from Steubenville to Philadelphia without change, and will connect in Pittsburgh union station with Sleeping cars running through to Atlantic City.

The return limit will cover 12 days including date of sale, which will be ample for customary 10 days' vacation. For further desired information, apply to J. K. Dillon, D. P. A., Pittsburg, Pa., for particulars. Illustrated description of resorts to which excursion tickets will be sold, with list of hotels, and boarding houses at each, will be furnished upon application.

Low Rates.

Special reductions in fare over the Pennsylvania lines will be granted for numerous events to take place this summer in various parts of the United States, in addition to local excursions. Some of the points to which tickets will be sold and dates of sale are as follows:

To Nashville, Tenn., daily to October 15, for Tennessee Centennial and International exposition.

To Winona assembly grounds, Eagle Lake, (near Warsaw, Ind.,) May 15 to August 31, for annual assembly and summer school.

To Indianapolis, September 8 and 9, for National Encampment Sons of Veterans.

The reduced rates over the Pennsylvania lines will not be restricted to members of the organizations mentioned, but may be taken advantage of by the public generally. Excursion tickets may be obtained at ticket offices on the Pennsylvania system and will also be sold over this route by connecting railways. Any Pennsylvania line ticket or passenger agent will furnish desired information concerning rates, time of trains, return limit, and other details, to all applicants, or the same may be obtained by addressing Samuel Moody, assistant general passenger agent, Pittsburg, Pa.

Excursions to Nashville.

The Tennessee Centennial and International exposition will be in progress at Nashville, Tenn., from May until October inclusive. Special low rate round trip ticket will be sold via Pennsylvania lines for this event. Full particulars concerning fare, dates of sales, time of train, etc., may be obtained upon application to the nearest Pennsylvania line ticket agent, or by addressing D. C. MacWatters, district passenger agent, Pittsburg, Pa.

DECLINED THE OFFER

The Specialty Will Not Go to Martin's Ferry.

COMPANY WANTED TO COMBINE

But the Local Concern Decided Not to Have It That Way—The Matter Was Under Advisement Some Time, but Was Abandoned as Not Being Practical.

The Specialty Glass company is still considering the advisability of leaving East Liverpool, but there is no reason to believe that the plant will be located in Martin's Ferry. The New York Crockery Journal of Saturday said:

"Negotiations are pending between the Specialty Glass company, of East Liverpool, and the stockholders of the West Virginia glass works, Martin's Ferry, for the removal of the former's stock and business to Martin's Ferry. The owners of the West Virginia offer to put in the plant at $25,000 and take it in stock, the Specialty company to put in their stock at a fair appraisal and run the business. The deal is said to be merely waiting ratification."

Inquiry at the Specialty developed that the proposition was made sometime ago by the West Virginia people, but after it was considered the local company decided not to accept it. The company has reached a final decision.

CAUGHT A SLICK OPERATOR.

The Postoffice Authorities Think They Have Him.

Some time ago business men in this city were notified not to cash money orders drawn on the office of Belmore, O. The office had been robbed a short time before, and the thief had taken with him a bunch of blank money orders. These he filled out to suit himself, forged them very well, and passed them after the postoffice in the town, where he happened at that time to be, was closed. The man was caught in Fort Wayne.

Are Meeting In Annual Session at Columbus.

The annual session of the Daughters of America, lasting four days, will commence tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock in Columbus. The meeting will be opened by an address by Governor Bushnell. Those who went from this city are J. Anderson, national representative, and Mrs. L. B. Lowery, assistant state councillor. At Dennison the party will meet Miss Julia Tipton, state secretary. Mrs. Rachael Grafton, of Wellsville, state treasurer of the organization, is also in the party.

HELEN GOULD'S GIFT.

Gives $5,000 to Chautauqua Memorial Temple.

Miss Helen M. Gould, who recently was spending several days at Chautauqua, made a donation of $5,000 to the proposed memorial temple, the Hall of the Christ, about to be erected there. This building has been one of Chancellor Vincent's most cherished dreams for the past three years, and in a quiet way he has been raising funds by voluntary subscription for its erection. Last year on Recognition day, Aug. 18, the building site was consecrated with most impressive ceremonies, participated in by bishops, doctors of divinity and distinguished men of letters. The plot of ground set aside for the edifice embraces Academy park, the most central and choicest location on the grounds. The design and purpose of the building are unique. It is to be a memorial hall, dedicated to the life and works of the Christ. The plans submitted by Paul J. Pelse, the architect who designed the Congressional library in Washington, are now in the hands of the Chautauqua trustees.

The first donation to the Hall of the Christ was the sum of $10,000 from the late Hart A. Massey, the well known wealthy manufacturer of Toronto, and brother-in-law of Chancellor Vincent. This was three years ago, and since then the fund has been steadily growing by contributions ranging from $1 up. Miss Lillian Massey supplemented the gift of her father by sending a check for $1,000 on her wedding day as a gift to the proposed hall. The fund has now reached $25,000, a sufficient sum to warrant the beginning of the work.—New York Sun.

THE GAME HE PLAYED.

How a Swindler Secured a Bicycle In Washington.

A well dressed young man called at the Raleigh hotel, Washington, the other morning and registered "W. C. Howell and wife, Atlanta, Ga." After telling the clerk his wife would arrive later the young man left the hotel. Shortly afterward a man giving the name mentioned and saying he was stopping at the Raleigh called at the bicycle establishment of Burr & Jones and ordered a tandem sent to the hotel for use. He was particular that the wheel should be a good one, and a wheel in first class condition was sent.

Later in the day the bicycle firm received a letter saying that the man who had rented the wheel had met with a serious accident and had been picked up in an unconscious condition. In the letter the dealers were assured that, although the wheel had been wrecked, the damages would be paid and that the machine could be found at the address given.

But the writer had failed to mention the address. When this letter was received, the police were notified, and Detective Boardman went in search of the man and wheel. He failed to find the former, but learned that a tandem answering the description of the missing one had been shipped to Philadelphia.

A BLOW RESTORED HIM.

A Deaf Mute Regains Speech and Hearing While Sparring.

In a friendly boxing bout at Van Meter, Ia., recently Sam Pyers dealt Tom Brassfield, a deaf mute, so violent a blow under the ear that the latter instantly recovered his hearing and the power of speech.

Brassfield was formerly a resident of Sioux City. Last November he undertook to ride a bucking horse. The animal jarred the rider so seriously that when he dismounted he first bled freely from his nose, mouth and ears and then lost both speech and hearing. Though he suffered considerably from pains in the head, he was in tolerably good health, and on the occasion referred to put on the gloves with Pyers for a little exercise.

Presently Pyers' arm shot out, and Brassfield went to the grass. When he sat up, blood was streaming from his mouth and nose. Pyers was much alarmed and ran for assistance. On his return Brassfield was able to speak for the first time since last November. He hears well, and no signs are shown of a return of his infirmity.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Milton.

Milton was born in 1608 and died in 1674. His first poem of note, "On the Morning of Christ's Nativity," was written in 1629. The "Paradise Regained" was finished a short time before his death. His literary labors covered 45 years. His greatest poem was written by the hand of an amanuensis, and his most serious annoyance was the petulance of his daughters, who sometimes refused to write when he was in the mood to compose.

Sir Christopher Wren, the architect of St. Paul's cathedral, London, was buried in that majestic pile, and the visitor is enlightened by his epitaph, thus, "Si monumentum queris, circumspecte" (If you ask for his monument, look round).

Three good washes are received by an Abyssinian during his career—at his birth, on his marriage morn and at his death. At all other times he shuns soap and water.

WANTED BOAT PLANS.

AN ATTEMPT TO STEAL DESIGNS OF THE HOLLAND SUBMARINE BOAT.

Supposed to Have Been Made by Agents of Foreign Governments—The Cuban Junta Has Attempted to Get an Option on the Craft.

A bold attempt was recently made to steal the plans of the Holland submarine boat launched a few weeks previously from Nixon's shipyard at Elizabethport, N. J.

About the middle of March a man who had got employment at the yards was found inside the boat at the noon hour making sketches. He was dismissed at once, and orders were given to let only the most trusted men approach the craft. The purpose of this man was never explained, and the belief exists that he was the agent of a foreign government.

The last attempt was planned with the utmost care. All the plans used in the shipyard are kept in a safe especially constructed for their protection. It is a steel structure ten feet square and of the same height.

In addition to these safeguards watchmen are kept on duty about the safe day and night, and a combination lock lends additional security.

The draftsman had carried a batch of plans down stairs and had put them in the safe. By chance this batch did not include the designs for the Holland submarine boat. When he returned to the drawing room to get these plans, he left the door of the safe open. On his return he discovered that some one had been there and had made away with the tin box containing $250 in cash, together with a bundle of valuable papers.

A short time subsequently the company received through the mails an envelope containing the papers which had been stolen. Not being the plans of the submarine boat, the thief had considered enough to return them.

Captain John Soley, superintendent of the yard, was so gratified that the plans were safe that he did not consider the loss worth reporting to the police. When seen about the matter, he said:

"It is true we will not allow an outsider, it matters not who he may be, to go inside of the Holland boat or to get a look at the working plans. One of the first requisites for a man to get work in this yard is that he keep silent about the work going on. Any violation of this rule is punished with dismissal."

"The representatives of several foreign governments have been here to inquire about and to examine the Holland boat. I have allowed them to look at the exterior, but not the interior. The value of the secret of its construction is hard to estimate. Its perfect success has not yet been demonstrated, but if it is successful it will be of immense value to the government which owns it."

"The secret agents of a foreign government, if they sought to gain possession of such valuable plans, would stop in New York and would be seen in Elizabethport as little as possible. They are too crafty to be caught loafing about the entrance of a shipyard."

It has been stated over and over that the Holland submarine boat would go in commission under the flag of the Cuban republic. All that is awaited, say dispatches from Washington, is the recognition of the belligerent rights of the Cuban insurgents by the administration. High officials at the navy department have admitted that the new submarine destroyer has been built for this purpose.

The United States government has not authorized the construction of the vessel, nor has any other nation done so. The work has been rushed. Mr. Nixon says he does not know where the vessel is to go, or what flag she is to fly, and the officers of the Holland Submarine Boat company in this city declare they have nothing to say about her except that she will be sent to Washington to be exhibited to members of congress and to the naval authorities.

It has been stated that the agents of Spain had their eyes on the boat and might buy her to prevent her falling into the hands of the Cubans.

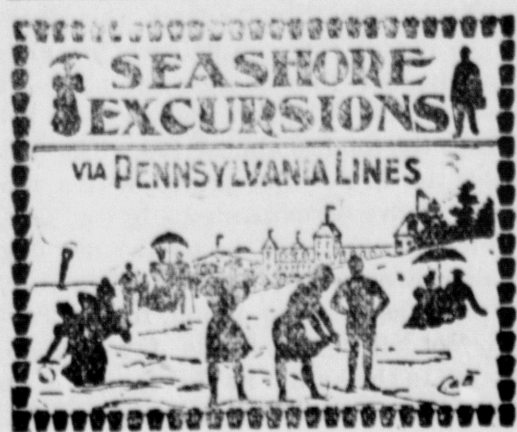

Representatives of the Cuban junta in New York have made efforts to get an option on the boat. If they should get the prize, the navy of the United States could not prevent her stealing out of New York harbor.

The suspicion that some naval attaché of a foreign legation may have instigated the attempt is based on the fact that these officers are sent for the special purpose of getting secret plans of vessels, fortifications and military operations. Their governments encourage them in obtaining such information by any means and pay the bills they incur without question or scrutiny. They are military spies in time of peace.

They openly declare there is nothing worth possessing of which they have not full knowledge. A few months since Captain Carlos de la Casa, the Spanish military attaché, was complaining that his rooms in New York had been robbed, and it was brought out that he was in New York for the purpose of securing, if possible, the detailed plans of New York's harbor defenses.

These military and naval attachés live apart from the legations and are inconspicuous in the diplomatic social life. They keep their movements veiled with secrecy. It is not discoverable that any of them has been near New York recently, though it is known all of them made strenuous efforts to see the launching of the Holland boat. The theory of the departmental officials is that the robbery was committed by some attaché of the yard in the hope of getting a reward.—New York Journal.

Low Rates For Vacation Trips and Outings Along the Ocean.

Round Trip From Steubenville Only $10.

General excursions to the seashore at exceptionally low rates will be inaugurated by the Pennsylvania lines this summer, offering a grand opportunity for delightful outings at the most popular ocean resorts on the continent. This announcement will be good news to persons who may desire to enjoy their vacations at the seaside. They may visit Atlantic City, Cape May, Avalon, Sea Isle City, Anglesea, Ocean City, Holly Beach or wildwood, at very low fare, round trip tickets to either resort being obtainable at the same rate.

The first excursion will be run Thursday, July 15, followed by others on July 29th, August 12 and 21. Round trip rates to either Atlantic City, Cape May, Avalon, Sea Island City, Anglesea, Ocean City, Wildwood or Holly Beach, New Jersey, will be $10 from Steubenville.

Excursion tickets will be good going on trains leaving Steubenville 4:24 a. m., 1:09 p. m., 2:15 p. m., and 4:08 p. m. The 4:24 a. m. train connects in Pittsburgh Union Station with a special train of parlor cars and coaches running through to Atlantic City via Delaware bridge route, arriving at Philadelphia at 6:25 p. m., Atlantic City, 8:55 p. m., making the run from Pittsburgh to the seashore in 12 hours. Excursionists may spend the night in Philadelphia and proceed to the shore by any regular train the following day. The 4:08 p. m. train has sleeping cars from Steubenville to Philadelphia without change, and will connect in Pittsburgh union station with Sleeping cars running through to Atlantic city.

The return limit will cover 12 days including date of sale, which will be ample for customary 10 days' vacation. For further desired information, apply to J. K. Dillon, D. P. A., Pittsburg, Pa., for particulars. Illustrated description of resorts to which excursion tickets will be sold, with list of hotels, and boarding houses at each, will be furnished upon application.

Low Rates.

Special reductions in fare over the Pennsylvania lines will be granted for numerous events to take place this summer in various parts of the United States, in addition to local excursions. Some of the points to which tickets will be sold and dates of sale are as follows:

To Nashville, Tenn., daily to October 15, for Tennessee Centennial and International exposition.

To Winona assembly grounds, Eagle Lake, (near Warsaw, Ind.,) May 15 to August 31, for annual assembly and summer school.

To Indianapolis, September 8 and 9, for National Encampment Sons of Veterans.

The reduced rates over the Pennsylvania lines will not be restricted to members of the organizations mentioned, but may be taken advantage of by the public generally. Excursion tickets may be obtained at ticket offices on the Pennsylvania system and will also be sold over this route by connecting railways. Any Pennsylvania line ticket or passenger agent will furnish desired information concerning rates, time of trains, return limit, and other details, to all applicants, or the same may be obtained by addressing Samuel Moody, assistant general passenger agent, Pittsburg, Pa.

Excursions to Nashville.

The Tennessee Centennial and International exposition will be in progress at Nashville, Tenn., from May until October inclusive. Special low rate round trip ticket will be sold via Pennsylvania lines for this event. Full particulars concerning fare, dates of sales, time of train, etc., may be obtained upon application to the nearest Pennsylvania line ticket agent, or by addressing D. C. MacWatters, district passenger agent, Pittsburg, Pa.

Sheriff Wilkins would not talk, but it was evident that he has his eye on another party. Not far from the home are several saw mills which give employment to a large number of men, while the loggers and choppers increase the total to almost 100. The fact that the brute was armed with a gun and was accompanied by a dog, which, by the way, is unlike any dog Baker owns, although he has a number, is taken as meaning much, for the Turkeyfoot oil field affords few inducements to the hunter at this season. Two boys are said to have seen a man going through the woods with a gun and a dog Friday morning. On that the sheriff will work.

A Catholic Woman's College.
The first American Roman Catholic college for women is to be founded in Washington. Twenty acres of land near the Roman Catholic university have been purchased by the Sisters of Notre Dame, and they will build there a college for women under the auspices of the university. The new institution will be called Trinity college, and the first building will accommodate 100 students. The plans have been drawn up, and within a month ground will be broken. No student under 18 years of age will be admitted. Cardinal Gibbons has given his warm approval of the project. The sisters expect to have the college completed and in full running order for the beginning of the school year in 1898.—New York Sun.

An Innovation.
A unique custom, and one which might serve to dissipate the gloomy formality of some of our receptions, was introduced at the recent jubilee dinner given by the women writers in London. At this banquet every woman wore pinned to her bodice with the jubilee colors a card bearing her name. This did away with the necessity of introductions and "broke the ice beautifully."—Exchange.

Tinworker Burned.
LISBON, Aug. 2.—[Special].—William Morrison, of this place, was terribly burned about the head and breast this morning at the tin mill. Morrison opened a furnace door when the flames burst forth. He will recover.

Heavy Tribal Fighting.
CAIRO, Aug. 2.—The Egyptian intelligence department has received word of heavy tribal fighting up the Nile between the Dervishes and the Jaalons.

The Weather.
Partly cloudy weather; slightly warmer; light southeasterly winds.

WE want you to know there is a "Standard" Sewing Machine Company. If you don't know it we cannot get your trade. This company has existed eleven years. It commenced with $200,000 capital. It has increased each year in sales and in capital. It now has $2,000,000 invested. It has an immense factory and most complete facilities for making 300 machines per day. It has already made and sold 325,000 machines, each one speaking for itself and the company that made it.
It can now turn out 100,000 machines every year. The recent rapid growth of its trade and large demand will justify this output.
It wants your trade, and will give you the best machine in the world. Carefully examine it. Recognize the principles on which it is constructed. No other like it—because it costs too much for the old line companies to make. Their old style antiquated machinery will not do the close and accurate work necessary to turn out a rotary. It is twenty years ahead of all competition. Highest grade, fastest speed, finest made, the "Standard" of the world. Young, ambitious, enterprising, it knows that to succeed in face of the steady competition and calumny of the older companies it must give you a machine very far superior in principle and workmanship. It has done so, and the 325,000 users of its goods are unanimous in saying so. It wants your intended purchases also. Its machines are better than the best, and it stands by this assertion. Prove it by its use, and if not so it will never cost you one cent. Ask for the "Standard."

LOCAL BREVITIES.

The board of health will meet next Friday evening.

George Bramer spent Sunday with his parents in Steubenville. He rode down on his wheel.

Business in the local courts is very quiet now. There has not been a new case since Friday last.

The colored Mandolin club and their friends will picnic next Thursday evening at Columbian park.

J. Noble Shawe, of Pittsburg, sang a beautiful tenor solo at the First M. E. church yesterday evening.

Almost every skiff obtainable was out on the river last night. Dozens of people spent the evening boating.

Mr. and Mrs. George Peach returned home Saturday evening from Mackinac. They spent about a month there.

About 50 people were present at the sunrise praise service in the Methodist Episcopal church yesterday morning.

Sheriff Gill was in the city today appraising property. He came up from Wellsville where he served some papers.

C. Metsch will leave Germany tomorrow morning for this country. Upon his arrival he will spend several days in New York.

Mrs. Fannie Farmer and Miss Flora Albright returned home, Saturday, from an extended outing in the northern part of the county.

J. D. and O. E. Arnold, of Pittsburg, rode their wheels to this city yesterday morning and returned home on the Keystone State.

George P. Rust, the well known secretary of the East Liverpool Bridge company, is in the city on business. He came here from Cleveland Saturday night.

The new road signs the township trustees purchased some time ago arrived today, and are being put up on the roads by Percy Albright. The work will last several days.

It is said that the parties who expect to construct an electric line from Lisbon to this city will have men at work within 60 days. All the right of way has been secured.

The services at St. Stephen's church yesterday were conducted by Professor Thornburg, of Kenyon college. Professor Davis, of the same place, will preach next Sunday.

The mayor's court was quiet this morning. The only regulars now in are Grey and McGavren, as Mr. Anderson the city janitor, was released from custody Saturday afternoon.

One of the proposed features of the Labor day celebration is a Rugby football game between the reorganized Eclipse and an East End eleven. It would be a drawing card.

Superintendent Andrews, of the Liverpool Street Railway company, was in Pittsburg today looking after some machinery the company ordered some time ago from the Westinghouse company.

George Grosshans has completed the census of the city. Although his report is not ready for publication, he has found that the city has more than 15,000 people, over 4,000 of whom are school children.

The Olympic foot ball team will meet next week for the purpose of organizing. New material has been secured, and the eleven will be ready when the season opens to meet any juvenile team in the Ohio valley.

While the street railway company is repairing its tracks it has been suggested that it repair the railing at Brady's cut. The place is very dangerous and there should be some protection to keep teams from going over the hill.

The overturning of a lamp in a small building owned by Robert Boyd in Fifth street, Saturday evening, caused the fire department to make a run. When it arrived the flames had been extinguished. A table and part of the carpet were burned, but the damage will not amount to more than $10.

An ostrich will never go straight to its nest, but always approaches it with many windings and detours, in order, if possible, to conceal the locality from observation.

If a match is held to a celluloid billiard ball, the ball will catch fire and burn.
